GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

CHICAGO — Grains scored moderate gains on the Board of Trade today despite the fact they had to absorb quite heavy selling pressure.

In an active trade gains ranged to more than 20¢ in wheat, 10¢ in soybeans, the market leader. In other cereals, the uptick was limited for the most part to fractions.

Agriculture Secretary Benson's statement yesterday that the administration would have specific proposals to aid farmers also helped create some buying.

Wheat closed lower to 1 1/2¢ higher, September 30-31, 1955, 1.30 1/2; corn 1/4 to 3/4 higher, September 30-31, 1955, 1.30 1/2; soybeans 1/4 higher, September 30-31, 1955, 1.30 1/2.

Wheat: No. 1 mixed, 1.32; No. 2 yellow, 1.31; No. 3 yellow, 1.30 1/2; No. 4 yellow, 1.30; No. 5 yellow, 1.29 1/2; No. 6 yellow, 1.29; No. 7 heavy mixed, 1.28; No. 8 heavy mixed, 1.27; No. 9 extra heavy mixed, 1.26; No. 10 extra heavy mixed, 1.25.

Soybean oil: 10 1/2-1/4; soybean meal: 57.50.

Barley nominal; malting choice: 12.00-12.50; feed: 8.00-8.50.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market advanced cautiously today, a continuation of the unimpeded rise of the past two weeks.

Trading was at a good pace in the neighborhood of 2,700,000 shares. Yesterday's total was 2,570,000 shares.

Railroads were leaders of the advance with ample support from motors and copers. Some chemicals and aircrafts were higher.

The steel division was generally lower. Missouri Pacific preferred was up 5 1/2¢ at 100, including a block of 1,400 shares at that price. The railroad's plan for reorganization was given the green light by the U. S. Court of Appeals which upheld lower court approval.

This 1956 Lincoln CAPRI four-door sedan illustrates the trim grace of Lincoln's "big new" more than 180-hp engine—7 inches longer and 2 1/2 inches lower than the 1955 Lincoln. The new sedan will carry six adults in uncrowded comfort. With Lincoln's power steering and standard equipment on all 1956 models, a woman can wheel this all-new sedan into a parking space with ease. Lincoln's smooth-shifting turbo-drive V-8 engine with 9 to 1 compression ratio and the highest torque of any American car.

1956 Lincoln Display at Trading Post

Trading Post, Residents of this area are invited to inspect the new cars by Ray Turner and Jim James. First of the 1956 models, the new Lincoln is described by divisional engineers as: All new—engine, body and chassis. Styled with a new, low silhouette which highlights its 18½ feet overall length. More than 7 inches longer, 2 1/2 inches lower and 2 inches wider than the 1955 Lincoln.

FAVETTEVILLE (UP) The University of Arkansas' enrollment stood at 4,322 at the close of regular registration yesterday. Late enrollments were expected to push the total to about 4,500 compared to last year's enrollment of 4,084.

WASHINGTON (UP)—A hearing on a petition of three Arkansas towns to force the Mississippi River Fuel Corp. to supply them with natural gas has been postponed by the Federal Power Commission to Sept. 29.

The hearing originally was scheduled for Sept. 22. Cities which filed the petition are Des Arc, Augusta and Hazen.

HELENA (UP)—A hearing on the joint application by Mississippi and Arkansas to build a bridge across the Mississippi River will be held at Helena by U. S. Army Engineers Oct. 27.

The hearing was called by the Engineers to check into what hazards, if any, the bridge will pose.

The two convicts, along with two others, escaped from the Tucker Prison Farm Sept. 6. The other two were recaptured last week near Friers Point, Miss.

The proposed bridge would cross the river between Helena and a spot near Friers Point, Miss.

WEST MEMPHIS (UP)—Immediate racial integration in the public schools of West Memphis has been demanded by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Harold Weaver, president of the West Memphis-Jubert District, said yesterday the School Board had received the NAACP petition and had taken it under advisement.

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Two escapees from the Arkansas penitentiary were captured here yesterday while trying to peddle stolen cigarettes.

They were identified by police as Bobby Ferrell Milam, 19, and Bill Roy Koonce, 23. Officers quoted the men as saying they broke into a tavern in Oklahoma City and stole the cigarettes.

Classen Gives His Weekly Selections

By HAROLD CLAASEN
NEW YORK (UP) No. 13 your unlucky number. This is the thirteenth season of pigskin piling in this corner. So if 13 is your unlucky number, just turn the page and continue reading about that hot American League baseball race.

UCLA over Texas A&M: Both coaches claim they are building but the coast team was No. 2 last season and now is ranked No. 1 in pre-season speculation. Texas A&M heavily manned by sophomores and this Friday night struggle is their first taste of collegiate competition.

UCLA over Missouri: Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland is on record as saying that this is his best team at College Park.

Southern California over Washington State: The Trojans rate no worse than the No. 2 team on the coast.

Miami over Georgia Tech: This is your TV game. The Floridians missed an upset season last year by a single point and their machine this year is reported even better. The Tech backfield of late last season is back intact. The margin will be close.

Pittsburgh over California: The Golden Bears from the West are slightly tarnished in line.

Texas Christian over Kansas: The Big Seven team has lost 10 in a row and last Saturday the rivalry was tripped by the reserves.

Stimulating over the rest in a hurry.

Friday night
Drake over North Dakota State, San Jose over Utah State.

Saturday
Kentucky over Louisiana State, Florida over Mississippi State, Mississippi over Georgia, Florida State over North Carolina State, Tulane over Virginia Military, Virginia Tech over Wake Forest.

Iowa State over Kansas, Kansas State over Wyoming, Wichita over Arizona State, Nebraska over Hawaii.

Taylor over Hardin, Simmons over Houston over Montana, Texas over Texas Tech.

Oregon State over Brigham Young, Utah over Oregon, Washington over Idaho, Stanford over College of Pacific.

Visiting Around Arkansas BY JOE MARSH

PULASKI COUNTY
The Hub of Arkansas
Pulaski, hub of the Wonder State, was named for Count Casimir Pulaski, Polish hero of the Revolutionary War. The soldier's picture is carried on most of the County's trucks and cars, on a background of purple.

La Petite Roche—Little Rock, the state capital—was named by the French explorer, De la Harpe, in 1722. Besides boasting a fully restored territorial capital, the "old statehouse" and one of the most beautiful capitol buildings in the nation, Pulaski County is the State's industrial leader, with scores of new industries being formed or transplanted every year.

Too, more than half of Pulaski County is being farmed—cotton being the principal crop.

And in the hub of Arkansas, the United States Brewers Foundation through its self-regulation program works to maintain clean, wholesome food stores, cafes and taverns for the sale of beer and ale.

Race Barriers Down in U. S. Capital

By ED OREAGH
WASHINGTON (UP)—A second year of desegregation begins today in public schools of the nation's capital.

Racial barriers are almost completely down for the 106,000 pupils involved, through the problems arising from the mixing of white and Negro youngsters are not all solved.

Washington was the first big city to start complete integration in obedience to the May 1954 Supreme Court ruling that segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. It acted before the court issued its formal decree.

Today, 12 months after children of the two races began attending classes together, both white and Negro pupils are starting the semester in virtually all the 163 public schools in the District of Columbia. The school year is beginning on neighborhood remains largely Negro or white.

How is this "social revolution," as it's often been called, working out?

Mostly, the new order is being taken for granted by parents and pupils alike—with no public sign of the uneasiness that greeted short-lived strikes by groups of white pupils in nine junior and senior high schools early in the 1954-55 term.

School by school, the situation varies. In some, mainly in higher-income neighborhoods, integration has come barely a ripple. In one school where less than one third of the pupils are colored, a Negro woman has been elected president of the Parent-Teacher Assn. in other schools, however, authorities report an increase in such problems as truancy, misbehavior and poor classwork.

Much public concern developed recently when a series of tests given last March showed many pupils below the national average in all subjects covered; in arithmetic, reading, social concepts.

IN WAKE OF HEAT
LOS ANGELES (UP)—The city's worst heat wave in history ended Friday but city councilmen haven't forgotten it.

Councilman Gordon R. Hahn and Earle D. Baker yesterday recommended that the city hall be air conditioned at a cost of about $1,300,000.

Senate Fears Loss of Air Supremacy

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate military preparedness subcommittee is out to find an answer to the fearful question of whether the United States is in danger of losing air supremacy to Russia.

As part of a broad inquiry into the nation's air strength, the subcommittee wants to determine specifically whether the United States is ahead or behind Russia in production of intercontinental jet bombers and in development of intercontinental missiles.

The study will come as a climax to persistent Democratic complaints throughout the year that the administration's air force program is inadequate in view of recent Russian strides in airpower.

The study also may furnish Democrats with ammunition in case the administration makes a move to cut back Air Force spending to help balance the federal budget.

The importance Democrats attach to the inquiry is indicated by the fact Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson, is taking a personal hand in directing the study although still recuperating from a heart attack.

Johnson was made chairman of the subcommittee when Democrats reestablished it on a permanent basis earlier this year.

Johnson disclosed yesterday that the subcommittee has undertaken "a thorough study of American military air strength" covering production, procurement, delivery of aircraft, aircraft engines, rockets and missile systems.

Two Children Die in 3-Car Wreck

BLITHEVILLE, IN—Two small Blitheville children were killed in a three-vehicle collision three miles east of here on Highway 61 last night.

Dead are Roy Sipes, 7, and Jerry Sipes, 4, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sipes.

More Ransom Bills Are Recovered
CHICAGO (UP)—Five more of the missing Greenpeace ransom bills have been uncovered here in the past 24 hours.

Donald Hostetter, local agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in production of intercontinental jet bombers and in development of intercontinental missiles.

The study will come as a climax to persistent Democratic complaints throughout the year that the administration's air force program is inadequate in view of recent Russian strides in airpower.

The study also may furnish Democrats with ammunition in case the administration makes a move to cut back Air Force spending to help balance the federal budget.

The importance Democrats attach to the inquiry is indicated by the fact Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson, is taking a personal hand in directing the study although still recuperating from a heart attack.

Johnson was made chairman of the subcommittee when Democrats reestablished it on a permanent basis earlier this year.

Johnson disclosed yesterday that the subcommittee has undertaken "a thorough study of American military air strength" covering production, procurement, delivery of aircraft, aircraft engines, rockets and missile systems.

Farmers Hit by Income Loss of 4%

WASHINGTON (UP)—The nation's farmers have suffered less of four cents on the dollar in their cash income so far this year.

And a further drop in their income is expected, the Agriculture Department warned.

The income losses—if continued—would make 1955 the worst year for farmers since wartime 1942.

Falling farm income, a political explosive question with national elections in the offing, has Republican strategists seriously worried.

The Agriculture Department reported yesterday that cash income received by farmers for their crops and livestock during the first eight months of this year fell four percent below the comparable period of 1954.

It also said the farmers' net income for the first half of this year was at an annual rate of $11,000,000,000—also down four percent from last year's $11,000,000,000.

This is the lowest rate since 1923's $8,649,000,000.

Cash income is the gross receipts received by farmers for their crops. Net income is what is left after they pay their production expenses.

GAG DIDN'T WORK
MANITOWOC, Wis. (UP)—Charles Kirwan, 19, tried an old gag yesterday but it backfired. He walked onto a bar and announced, "When I drink, everybody drinks." Just about everybody did but when the check came around Kirwan announced, equally loudly, "When I pay, everybody pays."

Mail Room Foreman Is Shot, Killed

CHICAGO (UP)—Henry George, 45, mail room foreman for the Chicago Daily News, was shot and killed today by a crazed gunman in the newspaper's press room here.

The man sought as his slayer, Mike Morabito, 28, escaped after the shooting and police were called to search the News building for him or for his car nearby.

Witnesses said that Morabito had been ill and had spent some time in a rest home. He appeared at the mailing room today, and opened fire without warning, they said. George was shot four times.

Associates said Morabito had spent nine years here, and had received a withdrawal card from Mailing Local No. 2 going to Los Angeles for employment.

George, the slain man, is married and the father of two children. He lived at 2541 South Scoville Ave., Berwyn.

APRIL FO RATTISH
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Ed Berry, a Red Cross first aid instructor at the Kentucky State Penitentiary, was startled yesterday by a request for an aspirin for a cash.

A worker at the conservation department booth explained that the catfish on display at the booth was getting groggy and the aspirin would help freshen up his water.

Man Convinced Got a Show Employee

FORT SMITH (UP)—A man charged with operating a gambling booth at the Oklahoma-Arkansas Livestock Show here did not work for Twentieth Century Shows, a representative of the firm said today.

Jess Wrigley said that Mike Petrakis, who was convicted on the charge Monday, operated his own booth and was in no way connected with Twentieth Century. An Associated Press story reported Petrakis was charged with operating a gambling booth at the Twentieth Century Show here.

U.S. Commies In New Twist To Save Party

By JAMES HANLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Communist party has put a new twist into its five-year fight to survive. It is now trying to win the support of the Supreme Court by asking it to declare the party's constitution unconstitutional. This one twist is different from the party's previous tactic of asking the government to register as a foreign agent.

It is supposed to base their decision on law and not on political grounds, real or imagined. But other parts of the party's plan are constitutional. The party didn't say anything about killing the party outright or forbidding its existence. What the law said in effect was that if the party could be proved a tool of Moscow, a part of an international Communist conspiracy, it should have to admit being a tool by registering as such with the government. Theoretically, that would let the party continue to exist. The effect, though, would be to kill it at least under the Communist party name. No one doubts it would go on, even though badly crippled underground.

Formal Dedication for Hempstead County's New Hospital Here

Public Inspection of $700,000 Hospital, One of Nation's Finest Equipment Is Best That Can Be Purchased

Fire Dept. Ladder Truck Aids Star

The Star wishes to thank Chief Pap Willis and the Hope Fire Department for help on one of the toughest jobs of this special edition — making the outside photograph of the Hempstead County Memorial Hospital.

Because of the building's rather unusual shape, it was necessary to use a ladder to get the photograph from an elevated point to show the roof and the building's true size.

So the Fire Department loaned us its fabulous new ladder truck, which was used to get the photograph from an elevated point to show the roof and the building's true size.

The photograph was taken at about 50 feet vertically from the ground. On the horizon at the top of the building, the white form of the hospital can be seen.

All hospital photographs in this edition are by The Star staff and were taken at various times from two weeks ago up to a couple of days before we went to press.

The hospital represents a local and federal investment totaling approximately $700,000. Its initial capacity is 60 beds, but the existing floor space would permit expanding this to 80 beds — and if the building is ever enlarged the present kitchen and refrigeration facilities are sufficient to handle up to 125, meaning that the planners looked well into the future.

Like the building itself the hospital's operating figures are big. It will require 55 persons to run this institution, with an annual payroll of $220,000. On a basis of 70 per cent occupancy of bed capacity the operating cost is estimated to be from $18,000 to $19,000 a month. And the hospital will get into normal routine shortly after the dedication, with patients scheduled to be moved in about September 20.

Constructed of brick and concrete and glass, the hospital's interior has plastered walls and acoustic tile ceilings, with Armstrong Corion tile floors, indirect lighting in the offices, lobby and patient rooms, and recessed lighting in the corridors.

Incorporated into the hospital's construction is one of the most vital of modern medical center developments — a central oxygen system which pipes oxygen to every patient room. All a nurse has to do in an emergency is to plug the face-mask into a wall outlet and turn on the life-sustaining gas.

At each bedside is a button and all a patient has to do is push it to establish two-way telephone conversation with the nurse's central station. Thus the patient's need is established at once and the nurse has to make but one trip to take care of it.

Another automatic system flashes each doctor's name to the central station as he arrives at

Personnel Has Had Much Experience

The administrator of Hempstead County Memorial Hospital is a native son, Charlie Wilson, who went out to Korea 32 years ago as an apprentice hospital technician, and today is an experienced hospital manager and technician.

Mr. Wilson was administrator of the Clark County Hospital at Arkadelphia before resigning to head the new hospital being dedicated here Friday, September 16, in his old home county.

He is the son of the late J. S. Wilson, pioneer settler of Columbus. The senior Wilson moved to Columbus immediately after his discharge from the Confederate Army following the Vicksburg siege in the War Between the States. Two other sons now work the family farms at Columbus.

Jim and Joe. Also at Columbus is a daughter, Mrs. R. A. Jackson, teacher in Hope High School.

Charlie Wilson went out to Korea in 1923 to join another brother, Dr. R. M. Wilson, a medical missionary operating hospitals for the Southern Presbyterian Missions (Dr. Wilson, in retirement after 30 years' service, now lives at Richmond, Va.).

The Wilson brothers' station was a town named Kwangju, in southwestern Korea. Korea's original name was Chosen, and the town name of "Kwangju" also has been changed to something else, in case you going looking for it on present-day maps of Korea.

Charlie Wilson was in Korea 25 months, doing laboratory and X-ray work, and finally becoming manager of a 100-bed general hospital and an 800-bed leper hospital.

In 1925 Charlie returned to Hope and his laboratory technician's office here are: Mrs. Juanita Rice, superintendent of nurses, originally of Detroit, a graduate of Arkansas Baptist Hospital, Little Rock.

Mrs. Page Keown, bookkeeper, in charge of office records, admissions, discharge and insurance. She is a native of Arkadelphia.

Robert Conner, X-ray and laboratory technician, of Dallas, Texas.

STABBED BY BEEF — (AP) — HARTFORD, Conn. — Election of a youthful mayor was assured when John Stoppa spent his 57th birthday checking an election recount with his opponent. He won by three votes.

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Wirefeatures

TWENTY-FIVE years ago, along about this time of year, the photo flash bulb was introduced in this country, to replace the rather cumbersome and sometimes dangerous method of lighting flash powder on trays. It went off with a loud boom, a dense cloud of smoke, an acrid odor and there was no practical way to gauge the amount of light involved. Many photographers were burned or injured handling flash powder.

This year about a half billion flashbulbs are being produced in this country. Today this source of light is conveniently simple to use, small in size, extremely safe, fairly economical and quite accurate in measurable light output.

A flashgun has become standard equipment on practically every even the most inexpensive.

Most camera fans are aware of the normal uses for flash as a convenient method of bringing bottled sunshine where and when it is needed artificially. To some, however, it is quite a surprise that bright sunshine also brings deep dark shadows. Many shutterbugs accept the black shadows of summertime as necessary evils of the season and do nothing about them.

Here are some of the things you can do if the shadow portion of a picture is important enough:

1. Shift the subject, if possible, to change the shadows. A window shutterbug, for instance, can be removed or tilted.

2. Expose for the shadows. Open the lens or increase the time.

3. Use bright reflectors to shine light into the shadow area.

4. Use flash as a fill-in light to lighten the shadows.

Flash fill-in lighting is especially helpful with the more dramatic effects of backlighting when the sun is behind the subjects. However, it is important to let the sun light remain predominant and keep the flash subdued otherwise you lose the effect of a sunny day picture.

Here are the things to remember when you are shooting sunshiny pictures, where the flash is secondary and merely to lighten the shadows: 1. Expose for regular daylight conditions according to film you are using. 2. Use newest, smallest size flashbulbs. 3. If these aren't available, place regular bulbs on extension wire behind camera. 4. If flashbulbs can't be placed further away, diffuse them by wrapping a handkerchief around them. One fold reduces light output by half; two folds reduces it four times. 5. Take reflector off flashgun and shoot back bulb to lessen flash intensity.

Here's the way to figure the distance at which you place the flashbulbs when used as a supplementary light in sunlight pictures:

1. Compute the normal exposure. For example, using a speed, black-and-white film with a rating of ASA 50, we determine the exposure to be 1/100 of a second at f 16.

2. Divide the lens setting (f 16) into the guide number of the flashbulb being used. For example, a number 5 or 25 flashbulb has a guide number of 160 according to the table on the flashbulb package (for film of ASA 50 when shot at 1/100th second).

3. The answer is the distance normally used for a full strength flash picture. In our example, 160 divided by f 16 equals 10 feet.

4. Double the distance to get proper fill-in light strength. In our example the flashbulb should be at 20 feet.

5. If the bulb cannot be put at 20 feet, you can compensate by using it closer and removing the reflector or diffusing it with a handkerchief.

In all cases when using daylight color film, use blue flashbulbs to maintain correct color balance.

Having learned the rule about subduing flash in daylight pictures, there are occasions where you can break the rule to make better pictures. Sometimes the background in a picture is much too distracting or messy. By shooting a regular flash on the subject in the foreground, you can make the background go black, losing it.

You can, partially, overcome a messy background without a flash by focusing sharply on the foreground subject then, compute the exposure so as to shoot with the lens wide open. In the final picture only the subject in front will be sharp and the background will be soft and hazy and less distracting.

Servicemen Coached in Brainwashing

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Communist-type brainwashing techniques are being put through the hands of American servicemen in a series of tests. The tests are being conducted by the Army, Navy, and Air Force. The tests are being conducted in a series of tests. The tests are being conducted in a series of tests.

Under the military code, a revised version of which was proclaimed by President Eisenhower Aug. 18, the servicemen are told to avoid capture if at all possible. And if he does fall prisoner, he is to avoid "the utmost of his ability" telling the enemy more than the historic requirement of name, rank and serial number.

A major who let slip that he had only an eight-grade education, and a lieutenant whose membership card in Alcoholics Anonymous told him open to ridicule about his weakness for alcohol, were hammered until they talked just to end their humiliation.

The Air Force declined comment on Wyden's account but said that if it is accurate some changes may be made at Stead. It summed up the lesson commander, Col. Burton E. McKenzie, to Washington to check on the story. Newsweek said it was accurate and had been cleared by the Pentagon.

Wyden wrote that "some 25,000 men have safely withstood the 17-day course" at Stead and that the day of the trainees have formally complained of their tough treatment.

McKenzie, himself a prisoner in Germany in World War II, was quoted as saying the trainees "take it because they realize it's as important to them as life insurance."

In like vein, the Navy said recognition of the value of "E and P" training is growing—especially for its aviators, the men most likely to need skill in escape and evasion.

The Navy told of training exercises conducted periodically at Camp Mackall, N. C., in cooperation with Army troops from Ft. Bragg, N. C.

It said Navy and Marine airmen were first trained in map reading, firefanning, catching and cooking game, camouflage and the like.

Then, in teams of two, the men are put out into "enemy" territory. The "enemy" tries to capture them and is successful then goes to work on them in a manner calculated to stiffen their resistance to possible "brainwashing."

The Navy "captives" might be forced to march barefooted, or be blindfolded and questioned with little rest or water and no sleep for as long as 12 hours. They might have to do pushups or other hard physical exercise.

The Marines put volunteer air reservists through this type of training last month at Camp Pendleton, Calif., and the Army is giving its airborne troops such specialized courses at Ft. Bragg.

The Air Force declined to give details of its training, saying it did not want any potential enemy to know the indoctrination being given.

Liberty and Justice Told by Adenauer

LIBERTY AND JUSTICE FOR ALL. By Konrad Adenauer. Introduction by Ernest J. Cassin. Translated from German by Richard and Clara Winston. Harper.

Newest addition to the valuable World Perspectives series, edited by Ruth Nanda Anshen, this is also the volume of the greatest importance and usefulness.

In our world of pull and haul, with Germany plumb in the middle between the two great powers, the United States and Russia, and likely to be a battlefield if war breaks out, this small volume is timely, for it contains speeches delivered in the last few years, the latest less than a year ago. Since "he's" a busy statesman, and as quick to speak as to bat an eye, he has presumably made a lot more speeches than the 15 given here. Who selected these, the book, though it gives credit to a lot of other folks, seems not to say. Perhaps it was Jack, who at any rate contributes a pertinent foreword.

The press hasn't missed the utterances of the Chancellor of the German Federal Republic but, as Jack points out, this collection serves to emphasize their consistency. Unity is the key word; the chancellor wants a unified Germany, a unified Europe, a unified world. No European country alone can take care of itself in economic or military matters, he warns; and a year ago he said, "I go on hoping that the Soviet Union will see that she is not threatened by other countries and that some day the Soviet Union will negotiate with the United West." No matter how long Adenauer keeps his office, this is a welcome and reassuring statement of a political philosophy surprisingly human and high-minded to come from a country so recently so largely Nazified. As Adenauer says, time moves fast.

Servicemen Coached in Brainwashing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist-type brainwashing techniques were being put through servicemen at a new course at the Pentagon, officials said yesterday. They said all branches of the armed forces have such training courses to prepare for a possible grim life as a prisoner of war. The men are trained also in means of avoiding capture.

Under the military code, a revised version of which was proclaimed by President Eisenhower Aug. 18, the serviceman is told to avoid capture if at all possible. And if he does fall prisoner, he is to avoid "to the utmost of my ability" telling the enemy more than the historic requirement of name, rank and serial number. Defense Department sources told the "E and B" escape and evasion — training of some servicemen yesterday after Newsweek magazine published an account of such a course at Stead Air Force Base outside Reno, Nev.

The Newsweek article, by its reporter Peter Wyden, told of trainees forced to spend hours in dark hole, up in their shoulders in water, or in a "sweat box" where a man could neither stand, sit or lie down. Trainees were served uncooked spinach and raw spaghetti, and given frightening but harmless electric shocks. Wyden wrote, and they got rough verbal treatment. "A major who let slip that he had only an eight-grade education, and a lieutenant whose membership card in Alcoholics Anonymous told him open to ridicule about his weakness for alcohol, were hammered until they talked just to end their humiliation."

"A bachelor lieutenant, badgered until he became convinced he could not find a girl because his face had been deformed in a childhood accident, finally broke up in tears."

The Air Force declined comment on Wyden's account but said that if it is accurate some changes may be made at Stead. It summed up the course as "E and B," Burton E. McKenzie, to Washington to check on the story. Newsweek said it was accurate and had been cleared by the Pentagon.

Wyden wrote that "some 25,000 men have safely withstood the 17-day course" at Stead and that the day of the trainees have formally complained of their tough treatment.

McKenzie, himself a prisoner in Germany in World War II, was quoted as saying the trainees "take it because they realize it's as important to them as life insurance."

In like vein, the Navy said recognition of the value of "E and B" training is growing—especially for its aviators, the men most likely to need skill in escape and evasion.

The Navy told of training exercises conducted periodically at Camp Mackall, N. C., in cooperation with Army troops from Ft. Bragg, N. C.

It said Navy and Marine airmen were first trained in map reading, firefaking, catching and cooking game, camouflage and the like. "Then, in teams of two, the men are put out into 'enemy' territory. The 'enemy' tries to capture them and is successful then goes to work on them in a manner calculated to stiffen their resistance to possible 'brainwashing'."

The Navy "captives" might be forced to march barefooted, or be blindfolded and questioned with little rest or water and no sleep for as long as 12 hours. They might have to do pushups or other hard physical exercise.

The Marines put volunteer air reservists through this type of training last month at Camp Pendleton, Calif., and the Army is giving its airborne troops such specialized courses at Ft. Bragg.

The Air Force declined to give details of its training, saying it did not want any potential enemy to know the indoctrination being given.

Servicemen Coached in Brainwashing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist-type brainwashing techniques were being put through servicemen at a camp near Fort Monmouth, N. J., yesterday, according to a report from the Pentagon.

Blindfolding, forced marches, barefoot, questioning for long hours, with little rest or water and no sleep... the "rather rough brainwashing procedures" servicemen are being put through, Pentagon officials said yesterday. They said all branches of the armed forces have such training courses to prepare for a possible grim life as a prisoner of war. The men are trained also in means of avoiding capture.

LIBERTY AND JUSTICE TOLD
by Adenauer

LIBERTY AND JUSTICE FOR ALL. By Konrad Adenauer. Introduction by Ernest J. Kahn. Translated from German by Richard and Clara Winston. Harper.

Newest addition to the valuable World Perspectives series, edited by Ruth Nanda Anshen, this is also the volume of the greatest immediate importance and usefulness.

In our world of pull and haul, with Germany plumb in the middle between the two great powers, the United States and Russia, and likely to be a battlefield if war breaks out, this small volume is timely, for it contains speeches delivered in the last few years, the latest less than a year ago. Since "he's" a busy statesman, and as quick to speak as to bat an eye, he has presumably made a lot more speeches than the 15 given here. Who selected these, the book, though it gives credit to a lot of other folks, seems not to say. Perhaps it was Jack, who at any rate contributes a pertinent foreword.

The press hasn't missed the utterances of the Chancellor of the German Federal Republic but, as Jack points out, this collection serves to emphasize their consistency. Unity is the key word; the chancellor wants a unified Germany, a unified Europe, a unified world. No European country alone can take care of itself in economic or military matters, he warns; and a year ago he said, "I go on hoping that the Soviet Union will see that she is not threatened by other countries and that some day the Soviet Union will negotiate with the United West." No matter how long Adenauer keeps his office, this is a welcome and reassuring statement of a political philosophy surprisingly human and high-minded to come from a country so recently so largely Nazified. As Adenauer says, time moves fast.

CHURCH SENTENCE
COLUMBIA, S. C. — (AP) — A man who flourished a hand grenade when Richland County deputies went to arrest him has been put under a peace bond with the stipulation that he attend church or Sunday school each Sunday with his family for one year.

Magistrate Cal Laveser sentenced him to serve five days or pay a $5 fine. The man's wife is to report each Monday whether he will to church the previous day.

There is also a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail or a $100 fine.

The officers said they were called by the man's wife. He pulled the pin of the grenade which failed to go off because it did not contain any powder.

History and Development of a Community Can Be Traced by the 'First's' of the Area

As Hope and Hempstead starts on a new era with its fine new hospital and other buildings, it is interesting to note the progress of Hope. And the progress can be traced through the "firsts" of various things in the city. Each first in its own way contributed to the development and growth of the City of Hope.)

DEFECTIVE MORTISE LOCK

DO . . . remember that a mortise lock, even when still mechanically perfect, may fail to work because it is closed with dust, oil or oil.

DO . . . blow powdered graphite into the keyhole and into the front of the lock where the latch rests.

DO . . . if the graphite fails to produce results, remove the lock from the door recess after first taking off the knobs and the shaft which they are attached.

DO . . . look the lock in turnip-line for several hours, allow it to dry and then repeat the graphite treatment.

DO . . . as a last resort, open the lock itself to see if a spring is broken, handle it with care, as the inside parts are loose and may be difficult to replace in the correct position.

DON'T . . . remove the lock from the door recess by force alone; pry it out gradually with a screwdriver, after taking out the necessary shims.

DON'T . . . forget that if a broom key cannot be fitted or pushed into place, it can be removed by opening the lock just as you would a broken spring.

DON'T . . . use a screwdriver to pry the lock out of the door, as this will damage the plate opening and the condition.

Youngsters Have to Get Nourishment

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

AP Newsfeatures

Appetites do lag during a prolonged hot spell. So, often, does mother's ambition to stand over a hot stove.

However, growing bodies need the same kind of nourishment in hot weather as in cold. Children need milk, meat, vegetables, fruits.

Fevers in summer as well as in winter.

If you're wise, smart and modern you'll plan meals that contain all these things healthy little bodies need and still not spend much time over the hot stove. Use frozen foods, ready mixes and pre-cooked foods.

From the nutritional point of view, it makes little difference whether the food is hot or cold.

Cold soup, jellyed chicken, tuna fish salad, all carry the same body building elements as the same foods served hot.

But don't call a moratorium on hot food in hot weather. Children and the rest of the family too, get tired of a diet of salads. Select your hot foods for their quick-cooking qualities; meats that can be broiled or fried rather than baked, soups in cans rather than home made.

My summertime meals are picnics and food out of doors. If you have a backyard grill you probably have learned lots of tricks for easy good hot meals, and meals where Dad and the kids do the cooking and eat it.

Summertime picnics have their hazards, too, in hot weather food spoils easily. Germs grow quickly in unrefrigerated food. If food is thoroughly cooked just before it is eaten germs will be killed and the food do you no harm. But if a food like a potato salad, or ground meat for sandwiches is prepared in the morning, then carried several hours in a hot car it may contain so many germs that the whole family will have acute stomach upsets the next day.

Picnics are wonderful, but guard your family's health with a few rules such as these.

Never more than half an hour between refrigerator and table.

If the trip is longer than this time, arrange for some refrigeration en route or else carry the food in unopened cans.

Cook-outs are perhaps best of all. Meat that is broiled over an open fire not only tastes wonderful but is much safer than in cold sandwiches.

Children need milk whether at home or on a picnic. Fresh milk is difficult to carry and hard to keep cool. Try using canned milk. Taste the unopened cans, dilute with water at mealtime. Carry your own water. If you're not sure of the supply at the picnic spot, if the children do not care for the taste of evaporated milk, add a little flavoring. The addition of a little chocolate syrup, or a mashed banana, or a can of baby pureed prunes or apricots to the evaporated milk make delightful drinks that add a special party flavor to the picnic.

If your small fry are scornful of canned milk don't let them see you open the can. The strong flavor you add to the milk completely masks the canned taste of the milk and they'll drink the finished product with gusto. If they don't know its canned milk.

India estimates there are eight million, city officials say.

EASY LIVING!

That's the trouble with this September weather . . . it gives most of us a touch of spring fever all over again. But you'd never know it over at your Chamber of Commerce. Their committees manage to keep steamed up all year round . . . backing all kinds of projects that help the community. Somebody gets the bright idea of a courtesy campaign . . . another thinks the kids need a new playground . . . somebody else develops a plan to bring in more industry. They're into everything . . . safety drives, traffic problems, road-building . . . education systems, youth clubs . . . better government, more business, greater opportunities for the whole town. They're most interested in your best interests. And anytime you boost your chamber's activities, you're doing a real service . . . making living better for the community.

Camera Can Preserve the Camping Trip

AP Newsfeatures

"At camp . . . 1955" could be the title of a separate family album that would make an interesting evening of viewing this fall or winter and for many years to come. Here's a yearly event just loaded with picture possibilities because it features new faces, places and activities in the most pleasurable association. There's still time to plan a story-telling picture round-up of this important phase of your youngster's growing up process.

Camp pictures can be taken by the camper himself, the parent, when visiting, a counselor, the official camp photographer or, as a last resort, by the inevitable camera Jugg who always turns up in any representative group of otherwise normal people.

When the youngster at camp has his or her own camera, it is usually necessary to add a picture reminder in every letter or the camera is likely to gather dust. You can ask for specific pictures by pointing on whatever scraps of news you receive.

For instance, if you want to see little Jimmy or Susie with the frog, turtle or garden snake they caught and added to the camp zoo; or you want section pictures of the water sports field day this weekend.

Perhaps you can add a bit of incentive in your youngster's picture taking by appointing him your official junior news photographer with assignments to cover his camp activities. With very little extra trouble, you may enlist the aid of the camp director to make the assignments and the coverage a little more official in camp status. A personal letter to the director or head counselor should do the trick.

Here again, write a list of specific subjects to be photographed so as to make a complete picture story. 1. The camp sign which will act as the title for any set of pictures. 2. Views of the camp site — long shots and closeups. 3. The director and counselors. 4. Bunk mates and special friends. 5. His tent or bunk. 6. Mess hall. 7. Social or meeting hall. 8. Swimming hole or lake. 9. Game field. Activities: "A day in the life of . . ." and special events like a water carnival, field day, masquerade party, hike, campfire, etc.

A written list could also act as a check list for a parent visiting his youngster at camp or as a request list for the official camp photographer, if there is one. In all cases, more interesting pictures will result if emphasis is put on unposed, natural action photos instead of the stiff, heavy-camera-looking-at-the-camera type.

Here's a way to shoot a campfire scene at night with one flash bulb to simulate a bright flame. Aim the camera at the group which circles the fire in the usual way. The person who is directly in front of the camera, with his back to it, holds the flashbulb. The flash, on an extension wire or in a hand, is held low and directed slightly upward toward the fire and the other figures. The flash from the camera lens.

When using a handflash in cases where an extension flash is not synchronized with the camera, the flash is set off during the open flash technique. This consists of setting the camera on Bulb (B) or Time (T) exposure. Photographer counts "ONE" and opens shutter. On the count of "TWO," the person holding the flash fires it. On the count of "THREE," photographer closes shutter.

To get flames and swirling smoke in the picture, burn some tissue paper, leaves or dried branches just before the flash.

Where camps are of the rustic type, shaded by trees or bushes, black-and-white pictures would be helped by using the new color est Tri-X film. Camps built on open ground, or where the activities take place in bright sunlight call for the use of normal speed film.

The Story of Einstein Is Outlined

EINSTEIN: An Autobiography.

Dutton

Son of Jewish parents from the farthest edge of Europe, Jacob Epstein was born in New York's lower East Side. Invariably called a "teeming" neighborhood, it was just what when Epstein was young, and on every hand he found material for art.

He studied at the Art Students League in 1902 got to Paris; moved on to London by 1910; and has since made it his home.

In London he achieved his spectacular, almost noisy, controversial success. For some reason he rubs for the wrong way, at sight of his work or sound of his name, some people snarl.

From the first with his status for the British Medical Assn., and on through the great Oscar Wilde tomb, the Underground head-quarters group, and so on.

He took his indignant citizens to through the usual gestures of public complaint and outrage, like writing to the editor. Partly because of this, he cannot abide the press, the "gutter" journalist, the "peeping" and "pestiferous" journalists.

The criticism of his work has been largely from traditional-minded dignitaries, and that's surprising for he's always worked within the western traditional representational pattern — and worked handsomely in it, too, as a powerful original creator.

He shouldn't complain now — he's Sir Jacob. He speaks of the "inability of the artist to explain himself," and this book is indeed an extrovert record, not an inner biography. It's a revision of a work that appeared in 1940, and it's copiously illustrated, particularly with photos of Epstein's distinguished sitters. The frontispiece shows him at 27, when he looked like Gertrude Stein.

Youngsters Have to Get Nourishment

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

AP Newsfeatures

Appetites do lag during a prolonged hot spell. So, often, does mother's ambition to stand over a hot stove.

However, growing bodies need the same kind of nourishment in hot weather as in cold. Children need milk, meat, vegetables, fruits.

Fevers in summer as well as in winter.

If you're wise, smart and modern you'll plan meals that contain all these things healthy little bodies need and still not spend much time over the hot stove. Use frozen foods, ready mixes and pre-cooked foods.

From the nutritional point of view, it makes little difference whether the food is hot or cold.

Cold soup, jellyed chicken, tuna fish salad, all carry the same body building elements as the same foods served hot.

But don't call a moratorium on hot food in hot weather. Children and the rest of the family too, get tired of a diet of salads. Select your hot foods for their quick-cooking qualities; meats that can be broiled or fried rather than baked, soups in cans rather than home made.

My summertime meals are picnics and food out of doors. If you have a backyard grill you probably have learned lots of tricks for easy good hot meals, and meals where Dad and the kids do the cooking and eat it.

Summertime picnics have their hazards, too, in hot weather food

spoils easily. Germs grow quickly in unrefrigerated food. If food is thoroughly cooked just before it is eaten germs will be killed and the food do you no harm. But if a food like a potato salad, or ground meat for sandwiches is prepared in the morning, then carried several hours in a hot car it may contain so many germs that the whole family will have acute stomach upsets the next day.

Picnics are wonderful, but guard your family's health with a few rules such as these.

Never more than half an hour between refrigerator and table.

If the trip is longer than this time, arrange for some refrigeration en route or else carry the food in unopened cans.

Cook-outs are perhaps best of all. Meat that is broiled over an open fire not only tastes wonderful but is much safer than in cold sandwiches.

Children need milk whether at home or on a picnic. Fresh milk is difficult to carry and hard to keep cool. Try using canned milk. Taste the unopened cans, dilute with water at mealtime. Carry your own water. If you're not sure of the supply at the picnic spot, if the children do not care for the taste of evaporated milk, add a little flavoring. The addition of a little chocolate syrup, or a mashed banana, or a can of baby pureed prunes or apricots to the evaporated milk make delightful drinks that add a special party flavor to the picnic.

If your small fry are scornful of canned milk don't let them see you open the can. The strong flavor you add to the milk completely masks the canned taste of the milk and they'll drink the finished product with gusto. If they don't know its canned milk.

India estimates there are eight million, city officials say.

Parents and some of the older teens who are help to the latest in photo developments could make good use of the new, fast color films now on the market. With these (Anasochrome and new 20K-tachrome) the normal exposure in sunlight is 1/50th of a second at f 11. This gives a fair amount of latitude for good color slides in shade and in the open when the sun isn't shining. The new color films are three times faster in daylight than that old standby Kodachrome, whose basic exposure in sunlight remains 1/50th at f 6.3.

A Few Old Fabrics Still Holding Own

AP Newfeatures
 In the welter of new miracle fabrics, born in test tubes and designed to withstand soil, water, pests and wear, a few old-fashioned favorites still hold their own.

Cotton, wool, linen and silk still are very much evident in the current fashion scene. They come in new weaves, finishes and patterns. It's true, but the basic ingredients are the same as they were in grandmother's day.

School boys and girls for generations have been partial to corduroy, because it's husky, comfortable and washable. Corduroys of old were rather stiff and heavy and likely to produce a whistling sound when schoolboys wore their cord slacks or knickerbockers.

All that is changed today, when corduroy is made in fine-weave, lightweight versions for party dresses, when it comes in every color of the rainbow plus many unusual prints, when it also is made into tops with the boys, girls like date dresses in the new high color such as shocking pink.

Even in its new high-style versions, cotton corduroy retains its old-fashioned virtues — wears like iron and goes happily into the laundry.

Camera Can Preserve the Camping Trip

By IRVING DESFOR
 AP Newfeatures

"At camp — 1955" could be the title of a separate family album that would make an interesting evening of viewing this fall or winter and for many years to come.

Here's a yearly event just loaded with picture possibilities because it features new faces, places and activities in the most pleasurable association. There's still time to plan a story-telling picture round-up of this important phase of your youngster's growing up process.

Camp pictures can be taken by the camper himself, the parent, when visiting, a counselor, the official camp photographer or, as a last resort, by the inevitable camera Jugg who always turns up in any representative group of otherwise normal people.

When the youngster at camp has his or her own camera, it's usually necessary to add a picture reminder in every letter or the camera is likely to gather dust. You can ask for specific pictures by pointing on whatever scraps of news you receive.

For instance, if you want to see little Jimmy or Susie with the frog, turtle or garden snake they caught and added to the camp zoo; or you want section pictures of the water sports field day this weekend.

Perhaps you can add a bit of incentive in your youngster's picture taking by appointing him your official junior news photographer with assignments to cover his camp activities. With very little extra trouble, you may enlist the aid of the camp director to make the assignments and the coverage a little more official in camp status. A personal letter to the director or head counselor should do the trick.

Here again, write a list of specific subjects to be photographed so as to make a complete picture story. 1. The camp sign which will act as the title for any set of pictures. 2. Views of the camp site — long shots and closeups. 3. The director and counselors. 4. Bunk mates and special friends. 5. His tent or bunk. 6. Mess hall. 7. Social or meeting hall. 8. Swimming hole or lake. 9. Game field.

Activities: "A day in the life of . . ." and special events like a water carnival, field day, masquerade party, hike, campfire, etc.

A written list could also act as a check list for a parent visiting his youngsters at camp or as a request list for the official camp photographer, if there is one. In all cases, more interesting pictures will result if emphasis is put on unposed, natural action photos instead of the stiff, heavy-looking, ing-at-the-camera type.

Here's a way to shoot a campfire scene at night with one flash bulb to simulate a bright flame. Aim the camera at the group which circles the fire in the usual way. The person who is directly in front of the camera, with his back to it, holds the flashbulb. The flash, on an extension wire or in a hand, is held low and directed slightly upward toward the fire and the other figures. The flash from the camera lens.

When using a handflash in cases where an extension flash is not synchronized with the camera, the flash is set off during the open flash technique. This consists of setting the camera on Bulb (B) or Time (T) exposure. Photographer counts "ONE" and opens shutter. On the count of "THREE," photographer closes shutter.

To get flames and swirling smoke in the picture, burn some tissue paper, leaves or dried branches just before the flash.

Where camps are of the rustic type, shaded by trees or bushes, black-and-white pictures would be helped by using the new color est Tri-X film. Camps built on open ground, or where the activities take place in bright sunlight call for the use of normal speed film.

Nice to Have Outdoor Lights Around Homes

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

If you ever stepped on a rake in the dark and saw that flash that occurs when the handle hits you between the eyes, you can probably see why so many people are going in for outdoor lighting around their homes.

A friend of ours recently flood-lighted his entire grounds after he stepped on a roller skate in his driveway. And floodlighting is being used quite the thing to discourage prowlers. Only point is that the bulbs should be shielded as much as possible from direct view. Placing the lights under the eaves at four corners of the house is good practice.

Floodlights, or any other kind of outdoor lighting, should not be directed at a neighbor's house any more than toward your own house. About the height of bad suburban manners is to plant a private street light in your front yard in such a way that it will spoil your neighbor's relaxation on his own porch or in his own yard.

ACCENT LIGHT OF GARDENS AND LANDSCAPING IS ANOTHER ATTRACTIVE NEW WINKLE—the ladies at their garden clubs have discovered that electric lights used at night over flower beds or vegetable gardens stimulate plant growth. They say their flowers grow faster.

Well, garden decorative lighting is a matter of personal taste. The best idea is to use a few lights, rather widely spaced. This creates points of interest rather than a monotonous wash-out look of floodlighting. Such lights can be directed up into trees and shrubs as well as down from above.

As for bugs—you'll have to find out about them by experimenting. One thing you can count on is that yellow bug-lights do not actually catch insects away. They simply do not attract as many bugs as white lights do.

OUTDOOR LIVING is probably responsible for the big spread in the use of electric power in the yard. Porches, patios and terraces are now commonly illuminated. And the increasing popularity of electric lawn mowers, hedge clippers, power-operated barbecue pits, hot-bed heating cables and what not, means a big need for outdoor power outlets.

PERMANENT WIRING is almost always best indoors or outdoors. It presents no hazards and will last much longer than troublesome extension cords. We asked the electrical engineers of Anasconda Wire Cable for some tips on outdoor wiring. Here are their suggestions:

1. Lights and outlets mounted on the house should be connected with the indoor wiring system.
2. For lights and outlets in the yard, provide a separate 115-volt circuit. If you expect to use many lights at the same time, several circuits may be needed.
3. Switches for the outside lights should be installed indoors or at some other spot permanently protected from the weather.
4. If temporary lights are used, they should be equipped with heat-resistant rubber-neoprene cords with weatherproof plugs, receptacles and sockets. Never use lamp cord or telephone cable. They are just too dangerous.
5. Always use weatherproof electrical boxes, outlets and fixtures.

Business Man of 16 May Turn to Arts

AP Newsfeatures

HARRISON, Maine — A successful, 46-year-old businessman now earning most of his own way through high school is thinking of turning his interest from trade to the arts.

David Card, trash collector for 16 families, thinks he'll seriously take up the theater, music or literary arts. He hasn't decided which.

At present he is more concerned with clearing away trash. He uses a truck which he bought himself, and which is a few months older than he is.

Dave began his business with 15 customers shortly after he got a driver's license at age 15. He now has 35 regular customers all year round and another 15 during the summer vacation season.

"In his spare time, Dave plays a baritone horn in the high school band and orchestra and in the Bridgton Town Band. He also sings with a choir group and the school glee club.

He also plays the trombone, trumpet, saxophone, clarinet, accordion and piano.

Summers, Dave takes part in the Deuteres Summer Theater productions and in the winter he handles roles in school plays when not serving as football manager or school mailman.

For relaxation, Dave ducks into the kitchen where he's been learning cooking, his grandmother says, "ever since he was a bawdy old enough to hold a spoon."

He can handle all types of cooking, according to his mother, but in this age of specialization, tends more toward pastry.

Dave's biggest job in life, as he sees it now, is simply deciding which of his interests to follow permanently.

BREAD AND BUTTER LETTER — GAINESVILLE, Fla. — (AP) — Alachua County jailers accustomed to abuse from prisoners were surprised to receive a postcard from Ernie Thomas, mailed in Jacksonville 60 miles away after he was released from serving a sentence for being drunk.

EXPENSIVE FISH — ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. — (AP) — Dr. M. J. Noel found a new way to catch fish but it was expensive.

He parked his 1955 model car near a river and the machine rolled down a steep shore into the water. When a wrecker retrieved the car, two fish were found inside.

INTERNATIONAL PERILS — SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (AP) — Longshotmen found a cat in a railroad freight car which had been sealed a month earlier, fat down in Mexico.

They named her Wetback, a term applied to Mexicans who cross the border without benefit of passport. She survived the many dangers of life on the waterfront and produced two litters of kittens. Then, one day a feline her cousin, a tomcat, wandered onto harbor drive. An American automobile killed her.

EYE BANK STARTED — IOWA CITY, Iowa — (AP) — This state's first Eye Bank is being established at the State University of Iowa Medical Center with the support of Iowa Lions Clubs. The 250 plus Lions Clubs have already raised more than $10,000 to get the Eye Bank started.

It will be under the direction of Dr. Alton E. Bracey, professor and head of ophthalmology at the University. It is primarily intended to provide a clearing house for corneas removed from the eyes of persons who bequeath their eyes for medical use after their death.

Iowa recently enacted a law permitting the willing of parts of the body for medical use.

Nice to Have Outdoor Lights Around Homes

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

If you ever stepped on a rake in the dark and saw that flash that occurs when the handle hits you between the eyes, you can probably see why so many people are going in for outdoor lighting around their homes.

A friend of ours recently flood-lighted his entire grounds after he stepped on a roller skate in his driveway. And floodlighting is being used quite the thing to discourage prowlers. Only point is that the bulbs should be shielded as much as possible from direct view. Placing the lights under the eaves at four corners of the house is good practice.

Floodlights, or any other kind of outdoor lighting, should not be directed at a neighbor's house any more than toward your own house. About the height of bad suburban manners is to plant a private street light in your front yard in such a way that it will spoil your neighbor's relaxation on his own porch or in his own yard.

ACCENT LIGHT OF GARDENS AND LANDSCAPING IS ANOTHER ATTRACTIVE NEW WINKLE—the ladies at their garden clubs have discovered that electric lights used at night over flower beds or vegetable gardens stimulate plant growth. They say their flowers grow faster.

Well, garden decorative lighting is a matter of personal taste. The best idea is to use a few lights, rather widely spaced. This creates points of interest rather than a monotonous wash-out look of floodlighting. Such lights can be directed up into trees and shrubs as well as down from above.

As for bugs—you'll have to find out about them by experimenting. One thing you can count on is that yellow bug-lights do not actually catch insects away. They simply do not attract as many bugs as white lights do.

OUTDOOR LIVING is probably responsible for the big spread in the use of electric power in the yard. Porches, patios and terraces are now commonly illuminated. And the increasing popularity of electric lawn mowers, hedge clippers, power-operated barbecue pits, hot-bed heating cables and what not, means a big need for outdoor power outlets.

PERMANENT WIRING is almost always best indoors or outdoors. It presents no hazards and will last much longer than troublesome extension cords. We asked the electrical engineers of Anasconda Wire Cable for some tips on outdoor wiring. Here are their suggestions:

1. Lights and outlets mounted on the house should be connected with the indoor wiring system.
2. For lights and outlets in the yard, provide a separate 115-volt circuit. If you expect to use many lights at the same time, several circuits may be needed.
3. Switches for the outside lights should be installed indoors or at some other spot permanently protected from the weather.
4. If temporary lights are used, they should be equipped with heat-resistant rubber-neoprene cords with weatherproof plugs, receptacles and sockets. Never use lamp cord or telephone cable. They are just too dangerous.
5. Always use weatherproof electrical boxes, outlets and fixtures.

Business Man of 16 May Turn to Arts

AP Newsfeatures

HARRISON, Maine — A successful, 46-year-old businessman now earning most of his own way through high school is thinking of turning his interest from trade to the arts.

David Card, trash collector for 16 families, thinks he'll seriously take up the theater, music or literary arts. He hasn't decided which.

At present he is more concerned with clearing away trash. He uses a truck which he bought himself, and which is a few months older than he is.

Dave began his business with 15 customers shortly after he got a driver's license at age 15. He now has 35 regular customers all year round and another 15 during the summer vacation season.

"In his spare time, Dave plays a baritone horn in the high school band and orchestra and in the Bridgton Town Band. He also sings with a choir group and the school glee club.

He also plays the trombone, trumpet, saxophone, clarinet, accordion and piano.

Summers, Dave takes part in the Deuteres Summer Theater productions and in the winter he handles roles in school plays when not serving as football manager or school mailman.

For relaxation, Dave ducks into the kitchen where he's been learning cooking, his grandmother says, "ever since he was a bawdy old enough to hold a spoon."

He can handle all types of cooking, according to his mother, but in this age of specialization, tends more toward pastry.

Dave's biggest job in life, as he sees it now, is simply deciding which of his interests to follow permanently.

BREAD AND BUTTER LETTER — GAINESVILLE, Fla. — (AP) — Alachua County jailers accustomed to abuse from prisoners were surprised to receive a postcard from Ernie Thomas, mailed in Jacksonville 60 miles away after he was released from serving a sentence for being drunk.

It said "I got here o. k. Thanks to everybody for being so nice to me."

EXPENSIVE FISH — ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. — (AP) — Dr. M. J. Noel found a new way to catch fish but it was expensive.

INTERNATIONAL PERILS — SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (AP) — Longshotmen found a cat in a railroad freight car which had been sealed a month earlier, fat down in Mexico.

They named her Wetback, a term applied to Mexicans who cross the border without benefit of passport. She survived the many dangers of life on the waterfront and produced two litters of kittens. Then, one day a feline her cousin, a tomcat, wandered onto harbor drive. An American automobile killed her.

EYE BANK STARTED — IOWA CITY, Iowa — (AP) — This state's first Eye Bank is being established at the State University of Iowa Medical Center with the support of Iowa Lions Clubs. The 250 plus Lions Clubs have already raised more than $10,000 to get the Eye Bank started.

It will be under the direction of Dr. Alton E. Bracey, professor and head of ophthalmology at the University. It is primarily intended to provide a clearing house for corneas removed from the eyes of persons who bequeath their eyes for medical use after their death.

Iowa recently enacted a law permitting the willing of parts of the body for medical use.

Jap Doctor Tells Story of Atomic Blast

By W. G. ROGERS

HIROSHIMA, Japan — (AP) — The Japanese physician, Dr. Michiko Hachiya, M. D. Translated and edited by Warner Wells, M. D. Chapel Hill.

On the morning of Aug. 6, 1945, when the first atomic bomb fell, Dr. Hachiya was resting after night air raid duty at the Hiroshima Communications Hospital of which he was director. The first thing he noticed was a strong flash of light, then heavy darkness.

As he and his wife, both seriously injured, groped their way to the street, their house collapsed in a cloud of dust.

Eventually they found shelter in the unburned first floor of his hospital and his 40 or more wounds were sutured. Then began life as a patient in a hospital overflowing with wounded and dying.

Trying to keep the rooms and corridors clean was the impossibility, since most of the patients couldn't move and there was practically no one to take care of them.

With humor, courage and humility Dr. Hachiya kept the hospital going, cheered his fellow patients and at the same time tried to satisfy his scientific curiosity about the mysterious new weapon that devastated his city with one bomb.

The diary is a simple, day-to-day account of what happened to the bodies and spirits of the bombing victims. Dr. Hachiya says: "Hiroshima Diary is the record of my deep impressions, and, at the same time, a record of a great test of humanity."

Kitchens of Today Have Efficiency

BY VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Today's kitchen is a dream of efficiency. Look at everything and a place for it. It is the one place, usually where Mom has enough storage space.

The family drinking glass always has been an exception to the rule. It is used all day, left dripping on the drainboard of the sink.

When you can hold 2 drinking glasses for each member of the family may be mounted on the wall or cabinet next to the sink. You can make it yourself with a few pieces of wood.

Three small pieces of one-quarter inch plywood form the basis for a unit to hold four glasses. Cut one piece 16 inches by 7 inches for a back or splash-board section, curving the top edges and corners.

Nail the other two sections of wood together (to hold them even temporarily). Use small brads. Cut and curve the edges at the same time so that they are exactly the same size—16 inches by 3 inches deep. Cut dowels about 1-inch long by 1/4 inch in diameter to fit between the two shelves. You'll need

5 dowels—one at each of the four corners and one in the front center. Separate the two bottom sections. Cut four holes, 2 inches in diameter on the top piece so the glasses will fit through the holes. The matching section will form a shelf for the bottoms of the glasses to rest on.

The invisible type brads to anchor the dowels between the two sections should be about 3/4 inches long. The brace to be placed between the top and bottom boards of the glass holder should be 1 by 1/2 inches. Fasten from the top and bottom boards with glue and inch finishing nails. The back piece is then nailed to the 16 inch strip separate ing the glass holder from the shelf beneath.

Paint the wood with enamel or other washable long-wearing paint in colors to blend with the remainder of the kitchen, bath, room or playroom.

Letter names of those who are to use the glasses above each opening about 3/4 of an inch from the top of the backboard.

Four inexpensive brass strips 1/2 inch wide by 2 inches long can be bent so that two attached to the back of the unit will fit into two strips screwed into the wall.

Separate Room for Youths Profitable

BY DAVID G. BAREUTHER

AP Real Estate Editor

Finishing off a separate room for a school boy or school girl can be a profitable project. You can find lots of authorities (probably with no children of their own) will pontificate on the theme of how a private room contributes to the development of an adolescent's personality. But in plain words, there's no denying that the young star will like the idea and besides, it can add value to your house.

Whether this room involves conversion of an attic, a breezeway, a garage, or a corner of a dry and airy basement, it should not be regarded as a temporary expedient. You may think that within two years, Junior or Sister will finish school and soon fly the coop. However, good use can always be found for a well-planned and permanently finished extra room.

Of course, all construction work is relatively expensive nowadays, but it is easy to make a justifiable home improvement on a time payment basis. Banks and savings associations readily advance funds for such projects, especially when the FICA insures their loan and you pay for the insurance. In other cases, there is an "open-end" clause in a mortgage, you can borrow back some of the money you already have paid off and either extend the life of the mortgage without paying more each month, or increase the remaining payments.

A wood paneled room is especially appropriate for a boy as well as for future use as a den. This has an informal and rustic tone and still it has dignity, too, because of its early American background.

You can get gorgeous effects with wood paneling without using a fortune. One of its big advantages is the fact that you don't have to redecorate if you stain the wood or wax it to keep its natural appearance.

Some of the most beautiful pine paneling in historic houses never was finished in any manner. It was merely allowed to mellow with age and whatever oil or grease it picked up from the air.

Or if you prefer, you can paint any kind of wood paneling in the Williamsburg style. The only trouble with painting it is that it will call for a tough removal job if anyone ever wants to get down to the natural wood.

A good tip on staining tongue and groove decorative paneling, such as knotty pine, is to stain and seal the boards on both sides and all edges when you have them cut to size and before you nail them into place. This point is stressed by the Western Pine Assn. of Portland, Ore., in its documentary film, "Operation Atlas." It insures you against having unfinished cracks show up in the course of pieces of wood lath can be used for strips.

There are good ideas whether you are using Southern yellow pine, knotty cypress, or any other kind of wood. And it also is wise to get acquainted with all of the local woods available at your local lumber yard. The Western pines include Ponderosa, Sugar and Idaho white pine, as well as the associated Douglas and white fir, red and incense cedars, larch, Englemann spruce and Lodgepole pine.

General Who Retired to Enter School

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa —

Dr. Millar White, 60, who retired a few months ago with the rank of Army brigadier general after service in three wars, plans to enroll at the University of Florida as a freshman student.

Gen. White started to college at 40 years ago but his undergraduate work was interrupted when he became a Marine Corps private in World War I.

After World War I, White went into the National Guard and in 1929 became commanding officer of Marshalltown's Company H.

White was a major on Feb. 11, 1941 when he went with the 34th Division to Camp Claiborne, La., and was promoted to lieutenant colonel when riflemen of the 34th became the first American troops to land in Ireland in early 1942.

He was in the North African and Italian campaigns and after World War II remained in the regular Army. In 1946 he became a full colonel as adjutant-general of the Fort Sill, Okla. artillery school.

In 1951 Colonel White was sent to Korea where he served as chief of staff of the Prisoner of War Command. He was one of three officers in charge of transfer of sick and wounded prisoners of war in April of 1955. Two months later, he was ordered to write a history of the POW Command.

After completion of the history, White was inspector general at First Army Headquarters. In that capacity he toured all Army posts.

Bartlett bought the half-century old property as a hobby in 1947 and several years later began a rejuvenating project.

He saved off 60 old and weary Ben Davis apple trees at the trunks. Then he grafted scions of Gravenstein, McIntosh and Cortland varieties into the cambium layer of the stumps. The new growth this year averages 15 to 18 feet tall.

Bartlett explains that by utilizing the massive root systems of the old trees he's got

Residents of Hempstead Owe Debt of Gratitude to Hospital Committee

Construction of New Hospital Came Only After Many, Many Difficulties Were Overcome

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following tells the story of how the new hospital was built. Information came from the Building Committee with C. V. Nunn, Jr., attorney for the group, acting as spokesman.)

Developments which brought about eventual completion of the new Hempstead County Hospital covered a long period during which many obstacles were overcome through a determined community effort on behalf of all persons interested in this project. There were many discouraging moments and many crises were met and passed and the committee wishes to thank all those persons who so ably assisted the committee in meeting this challenge. The idea for a County Hospital was born in the minds of the doctors of our County who in turn asked for and received help from the Hope Chamber of Commerce.

Meet after meet was called and finally the idea progressed far enough along for the voters of Hempstead to authorize a sale of $300,000 in bonds and approve three mill tax with which to reimburse the bond.

The late C. Cook, then County Judge, named a hospital committee composed of Lloyd Spencer, R. LaGrove, Mrs. E. O. Wingfield, Dr. Jim McKenzie and Roy Anderson with Albert Graves as attorney for the group.

Circumstances prevented this group from getting much done. Meanwhile U. G. Garrett was elected County Judge and immediately called a meeting of the committee. All members of the group affirmed by former Judge Cook resigned and a new committee was named by Judge Garrett with the following members: Clifford Franks, chairman; Roy Anderson, J. I. Liebong, Berly Henry and J. H. Gunter with C. V. Nunn, Jr., as attorney for the group.

Mr. Nunn was named building commissioner and Weaver and Stover were hired as architects.

Immediately the group began the selection of a building site and finally after viewing all available sites settled on a 10-acre tract on South Main Street between Elm and Main. This property was purchased by the County in April 1953.

In the meantime Congressman Owen Harris had been contacted and asked to try and secure matching federal aid for the local $300,000 bond issue. It was then learned that all federal aid for hospitals in Arkansas had been committed by State Board of Health to Little Rock hospitals for several years in the future.

Congressman Harris immediately placed an amendment to the appropriation measure which was passed at that time, winding its way through Congress. The measure was unanimously approved by the committee and was assured of immediate passage which would have provided that no one area or county in a state could receive more than one federal dollar for each federal dollar appropriated to that state for hospitals. Thus the State Board of Health was forced to allocate $300,000 of the federal funds to the Hempstead County project.

Even though a $300,000 hospital was originally planned the attorney for the committee secured legal approval of the local $300,000 bond issue without the necessity of filing a test law suit. This approval paved the way for use of local funds with which to match federal bonds totaling $300,000.

Bonds totaling $300,000 were sold to the Union Planters National Bank of Memphis with W. R. Stephens Investment Company acting as the underwriter. The bonds were sold to the County. They are scheduled to mature in 1970 but are callable and surplus money can be used to pay them off ahead of schedule.

For two years money has been collected under the three mill tax approved by the voters and such money amounted to $50,000 at the time the bonds were sold. The sale of the bonds were so arranged that the County had the right to immediately redeem $50,000 in bonds at par, which it did. So actually only $250,000 indebtedness was incurred.

This was followed by letting the general contract on the low bid to Tom Lavender Construction Company of Texarkana, with three other major contractors being awarded to Turner-McCoy Company (heating and air conditioning), Stewart Plumbing Company (plumbing) and Blaylock Associates, (consulting engineers). Construction began in 1954 and progressed phenomenally smooth with only four working days being lost until March 1955 when a major crisis occurred. Contractors were being paid on a percentage basis and in March the hospital was 85 per cent complete. However in view of the fact that federal funds were broken down into three payments, $50,000 in 1953, another $50,000 in 1954 and $250,000 in July 1955, the per cent of work completed had gotten ahead of its coming funds. The County had exhausted its $50,000 and also $100,000 received from the federal government and could not receive the $200,000 payment before July 1, 1955. Hence the County was behind in monthly payment to the contractor.

The contractors were very cooperative and patient and kept the job going as long as possible, but it finally reached the point where $50,000 had to be raised or the job would have to close down until the final federal payment was received.

This situation jeopardized the entire project for this reason: under the contracts the contractors were entitled to demand full payment without completing the job at a later date and the County would have to contract with another firm to complete the job, thereby paying two for the last 15 per cent of the project, for which there was not enough funds available even after July 1, 1955. Hence it could be said that unless funds could be immediately made available it was probable that the project would never be completed.

The possibility of this situation arising was anticipated by the board at the time the bonds were sold, as similar situations had arisen previously in the construction of projects dependent upon federal aid.

Anticipating this the committee took this matter up with its financial sub-committee and the board, and it was decided that funds could be borrowed locally for the few months needed from March to July. However, when the need became apparent, local financial institutions couldn't see their way clear to make the loan. Financial institutions in Texarkana and Little Rock were contacted but refused to lend the money without local financial institutions participating.

As a last resort, in order to save the project from inevitable failure, the building committee called a meeting of a number of private citizens who had expressed more than the normal interest in the project, and asked them for assistance with reference to raising the necessary $50,000.

Thus citizens individually went to their respective banks and pledged their own individual property as security for loan, and they then used the total amount of $50,000 so secured to re-loan to the contractors to enable the job to continue.

So six months after many months of work and hardship the Hempstead County Hospital is in operation.

It is a County Hospital, however, the committee wishes to emphasize that the people have not voted a tax for maintenance and operation of this hospital, hence it must of necessity be self-sufficient, as the tax voted was for construction only. The hospital Building Committee served without pay or expenses as does the Board.

The new hospital will be governed by a board of seven members the terms of such members mature in 1970 but are callable and surplus money can be used to pay them off ahead of schedule.

The late C. F. Bouton was originally appointed to the governing board and at his death Dale Jones was named to fill the unexpired term.

The building committee is very well pleased with the completed project, as even though they experienced more than the average number of hardships during the planning and completion of this project, they have had the full help of the architects and all the contractors, and feel they have designed and constructed a building that all the citizens of Hempstead County may be justly proud.

Child Likely to Swim at 5½ Months

ANDERSON, Ind. — They're betting that 5-month-old Stephanie Gilmore will be swimming before she takes her first step.

Stevie already has learned to float on her back and on her stomach and to take a pretty long duck in 3½ foot-deep water without getting any of it in her mouth.

Now she's learning how to paddle with her hands. When she gets command of her legs she'll be a full fledged swimmer, says her mother, Mrs. Maxine Barcus.

Stevie started six weeks ago. Her mother, Mrs. Myron Gilmore, took Stevie along when two older sisters — Victoria, 6, and Tamara, 4, were out of the house.

Stevie's mother said she was surprised when Stevie learned to swim. "I could tell she wanted to get into the water," Mrs. Barcus explained, "so I asked her mother if I could put her in."

Stevie was frightened by her first dip but her mother cheered it with the doctor and learned it. The next week Stevie learned to float. Now it's a matter of a few days before Stevie and her progress is amazing the Y's athletic staff.

Her mother thinks she's fine, but she says she's more impressed with Tamara's progress in gaining the use of her afflicted left arm and leg through the water therapy.

Perennials Important to Gardening

By ALBERT S. FULLING

Perennials are an integral part of any garden plan. Perennials are plants which live for a reasonable care, give you bloom year after year with certain limitations.

They may be started from seed. Early August is a good time to get under way. Early spring, before April, is another favorite perennial planting time.

However, to start from seed in early August, the open garden soil is too warm for good germination of most seeds. A coldframe which can be shaded, controlled and properly ventilated is ideal.

Perhaps, if you would rather do seed work, you can readily purchase plants from the nursery, greenhouse or farm supplier.

The seeds planted in August will be ready for bloom next spring. Usually the seedlings can winter in the frame without transplanting until spring. Another time for coldframe planting of perennial seeds is late in November. The seeds will remain dormant until spring.

The seeds may be planted directly on the soil in the frame, in seed flats, or in pots sunk with the tops almost level with the soil. Generally, either seed flats or pots will give you more maneuverability.

Plan for your perennials to go into beds of their own. There are perennials which will bloom in early spring, late spring, and various phases of summer and fall. They grow to varying heights, so you should adjust your plantings to give you continual bloom through the season as graduated height in the beds. Your seed packets or seed catalog will give you the clues. Be sure to check whether your choices need full sun, shade or part shade before planting in beds.

An old favorite early spring perennial is the primrose; Lily-of-the-valley is a mid-spring bloomer, while the Chastity daisy, pinks, iris, Oriental poppy, sweet William or delphinium will give you color from late spring through early summer. For fall flowers, there are the ever-popular chrysanthemum and the rose-mallow.

These are just a few of the usually heavy perennials. Winter protection in northern climates requires a protective mulch over the perennial bed to prevent heaving from alternate freezing and thawing. Through the years, there will be need for occasional replacement of plants for while the group is dubbed perennial, it normally is not perpetual.

U. S. railroad operating revenues for 1954 were $3,371 million dollars, the smallest since 1949.

City Square Used to Store Wheat

ALBANY, Mo. — Wheat piled up in the court house square was the answer to a transport shortage and a bumper crop here.

The Town Council gave permission for the use of the square when railroads and trucks could not move the grain fast enough. At its peak, the pile occupied three sides of the square and was 12 feet high in some places. Council members said there were 68,500 bushels in the street.

All the towns elevators were full and the wheat kept pouring in. Officials blamed the unusual size of the crop for the breakdown in normal handling facilities.

Few People Know How to Care for Piano

By EDWARD S. KITCH

AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO — Homeowners seldom know how to take care of their pianos, says the American Music Conference. It reports there are 19 million people in the United States who enjoy playing pianos but most of them don't understand what a complicated thing it is.

Here's the conference outline on housekeeping your piano: A large part of the care must be left to experts. That piano of yours may have as many as 12,000 moving parts. Tension strings may be as much as 150 pounds. Soundboards are subject to constant moisture which may be over half a ton in a small spinet there is 15 tons of stress on the frame.

Planes to which the strings are attached. In a concert grand piano may be 40 tons. The strings begin to lose their tension as soon as the tuner turns his back. Your piano should be tuned every six months with normal family use.

Planes with a wide variation in temperature and humidity, the piano should be placed in a room with a constant temperature. Avoid placing the piano near a window or in a basement.

You can use dehumidifying devices to control excessive humidity — an electric heater inside the piano or a bag of moisture absorber placed near the piano. In extremely dry climates, the wooden mechanical parts are inclined to shrink or even crack.

Then a humidifying device can be used. You can hang crystals inside the piano to protect the felt on the hammers and dampers from being eaten by hungry moths.

A piano technician should clean the inside of the instrument, removing the action, and using the vacuum cleaner to pick up the dust that settles on all flat surfaces. This should be done annually.

Like any piece of furniture, a piano should be dusted, polished or waxed occasionally. The keys can be cleaned with a soft cloth moistened with water. Use a mild soap if the keys are soiled extremely. Rub the keys lightly with a back-and-forth motion, then dry them with another soft cloth. Take care that soap or soapy water doesn't get into the action of the piano.

Here Is Dog That Thinks He Is Human

WOOD RIVER, Ill. — Buster is all mixed up in his head around acting like a human instead of the dog that he is. His owners, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jones say he actually appears uncomfortable lounging around the house without his role and slippers.

Mrs. Jones attributes Buster's confusion to the fact he "never has associated with other dogs." The Jones' say that if one of them turns up his nose at one of their table Buster "makes a gagging noise and refuses to eat it."

Buster, a toy collie, eats exactly what his owners eat, including carrots, sauerkraut and beans. He is particularly fond of the part shade before planning in beds.

His tank is BANK BUT IT IS COSTLY

KINGS MOUNTAIN, N. C. — A motorist drove into a filling station here and asked that his car's gas tank be removed. He explained that every time he bought gas, he had been dropping the change in the tank.

Lately the car has been spitting, so he thought it was time to empty the tank bank. Off came the tank and out came the coins — totaling $23.95. But his share was only $21.45. He cost $4.50 to take off the tank bank.

Josephine Hospital, Dr. G. E. Cannon, Important Part of Health of Hope, Hempstead

No hospital edition would be complete without a partial story about the Josephine Hospital, a private institution built and operated many years by the late Dr. G. E. Cannon.

The Josephine was located in the building across the street from the Police Station. He built the Josephine in 1915 and his hospital had the honor of being the first privately-owned hospital in the state of Arkansas.

The Josephine was sold in 1948 to Dr. Jim McKenzie who operated it a few years, finally closing down and selling the building to Whitfield Masonic Lodge No. 229 of Hope. Actually the story in the Josephine is the story of Dr. Cannon who generously, character and ability was widely acclaimed. It was often said that nobody was excused of race or ability to pay, was ever turned away.

Dr. Cannon died November 17, 1952. He actually never quit practicing medicine. During the latter years he and Mrs. Cannon, who still makes her home in Hope made many fine, still, commencing with the building checked into the Teachers' devised the plan for the building. The plan for the building and the plan for the building and the plan for the building.

New Stamps Tribute UN Post Service

TO HONOR the 10th anniversary of the United Nations, the U. N. Postal Administration will issue a set of three new stamps. They will be issued on Oct. 24th, U. N. Day. The main design on each is an open book depicting the charter of the United Nations. In the 3-center stamp, the phrase of the preamble to the charter, "We the Peoples of the United Nations," appears in English. The 4-center is shown in Spanish. The 8-center is in French. Further details regarding color, size and particulars on how to get first day covers will be given in this column in September.

THE NEXT U. S. commemorative stamp will be a 5-center honoring the bicentennial of Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y., the famed Revolutionary War site. It will be first placed on sale Sept. 18 at Fort Ticonderoga. Further details about the design will be announced soon.

AFGHANISTAN pays its tribute to the United Nations' 10th birthday with 2 new stamps, reports the New York Stamp Co. The 1.25 cent blue shows the U. N. symbol surrounded by the flags of the nations. The 35 p green depicts a world globe with the initials "U.N." superimposed.

TWO NEW air mail stamps have been issued by Ecuador for the 40th anniversary of the Rotary International. The 80 centavo brown depicts the Rotunda at Guayaquil. The 90 c green shows a hospital at Quito. Both stamps bear the Rotary wheel symbol.

PRODUCTS of the Ryukyu Islands appear on two new stamps from the Far Pacific Isles. The 20 yen yellow stamps shows a design from their banana cloth. The 15 yen red pictures lacquer ware. News of these stamps comes from the Japan Philatelic Society.

ETHIOPIA has issued three new stamps commemorating the 20th anniversary of the Ethiopian Red Cross. Each stamp bears an identical design — Princess Tashai in a nurse's uniform at a sickbed. A profile portrait of Emperor Haile Selassie appears in the upper right corner of each. The 1 cent is brown and blue. The 20 is green and brown. The 50 is blue and green. Also on each adhesive are the dates 1935-1955.

A 30 FRANC blue and blue green stamp has been issued by France to honor the centenary of the voyage to Canada of the French sailing vessel "La Capricieuse." A drawing of the ship is the main design. The dates 1855-1955 appear beneath the illustration.

Perennials which bloomed before last summer weather set in should be, if necessary, divided and transplanted in the fall so they may be established in time to produce bloom next year in their new and refurbished locations.

Residents of Hempstead Owe Debt of Gratitude to Hospital Committee

Construction of New Hospital Came Only After Many, Many Difficulties Were Overcome

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following tells the story of how the new hospital was built. Information came from the Building Committee with C. V. Nunn, Jr., attorney for the group, acting as spokesman.)

Developments which brought about eventual completion of the new Hempstead County Hospital covered a long period during which many obstacles were overcome through a determined community effort on behalf of all persons interested in this project. There were many discouraging moments and many crises were met and passed and the committee wishes to thank all those persons who so ably assisted the committee in meeting this challenge. The idea for a County Hospital was born in the minds of the doctors of our County who in turn asked for and received help from the Hope Chamber of Commerce.

Meet after meet was called and finally the idea progressed far enough along for the voters of Hempstead to authorize a sale of $300,000 in bonds and approve three mill tax with which to reimburse the bond.

The late C. Cook, then County Judge, named a hospital committee composed of Lloyd Spencer, LaGrave, Mrs. E. O. Wingfield, Dr. Jim McKenzie and Roy Anderson with Albert Graves as attorney for the group.

Circumstances prevented this group from getting much done. Meanwhile U. G. Garrett was elected County Judge and immediately called a meeting of the committee. All members of the group affirmed by former Judge Cook resigned and a new committee was named by Judge Garrett with the following members: Clifford Franks, chairman; Roy Anderson, J. I. Liebong, Berly Henry and J. H. Gunter with C. V. Nunn, Jr., as attorney for the group. Lee Ray was named building commissioner and Weaver and Stover were hired as architects.

Immediately the group began the selection of a building site and finally after viewing all available sites settled on a 10-acre tract on South Main Street between Elm and Main. This property was purchased by the County in April 1953. In the meantime Congressmen Harris had been contacted and asked to try and secure matching federal aid for the local $300,000 bond issue. It was then learned that all federal aid for hospitals in Arkansas had been committed by State Board of Health to Little Rock hospitals for several years in the future.

Congressman Harris immediately placed an amendment to the appropriation measure which was passed at that time, winding its way through Congress. The measure was unanimously approved by the committee and was assured of immediate passage which would have provided that no one area or county in a state could receive more than one federal dollar of the federal funds allotted to that state for hospitals. Thus the State Board of Health was forced to allocate $300,000 of the federal funds to the Hempstead County project.

Even though a $300,000 hospital was originally planned the attorney for the committee secured legal approval of the local $300,000 bond issue without the necessity of filing a test law suit. This approval paved the way for use of local funds with which to match federal bonds totaling $300,000.

Bonds totaling $300,000 were sold to the Union Planters National Bank of Memphis with W. R. Stephens Investment Company acting as underwriter. The bonds were sold to the County. They are scheduled to mature in 1970 but are callable and surplus money can be used to pay them off ahead of schedule.

For two years money has been collected under the three mill tax approved by the voters and such money amounted to $50,000 at the time the bonds were sold. The sale of the bonds were so arranged that the County had the right to immediately redeem $50,000 in bonds at par, which it did. So actually only $250,000 indebtedness was incurred.

This was followed by letting the general contract on the low bid to Tom Lavender Construction Company of Texarkana, with three other major contractors being awarded to Turner-McCoy Company (electrical), Stewart Plumbing Company (plumbing) and Blaylock Associates, (consulting engineers).

Construction began in 1954 and progressed phenomenally smooth with only four working days being lost until March 1955 when a major crisis occurred. Contractors were being paid on a percentage basis

Child Likely to Swim at 5 1/2 Months

ANDERSON, Ind. — They're betting that 5-month-old Stephanie Gilmore will be swimming before she takes her first step.

Stevie already has learned to float on her back and on her stomach and to take a pretty long duck in 3 1/2 foot-deep water without getting any of it in her mouth.

Now she's learning how to paddle with her hands. When she gets command of her legs she'll be a full fledged swimmer, says her mother, Mrs. Maxine Barcus.

Stevie started six weeks ago. Her mother, Mrs. Myron Gilmore, took Stevie along when two older sisters — Victoria, 6, and Tamara, 4-year-old cerebral palsy victim — went for their first lesson from Mrs. Barcus, women's swimming instructor at the YMCA.

At the side of the pool, tiny Stevie fairly jumped with excitement at the sight of her mother's arms.

The next week Stevie learned to float. Now it's lesson a week for Stevie and her progress is amazing. The Y's athletic staff, however, is skeptical about her first dip that her mother learned it with the doctor and learned it with the doctor's arms.

Perennials Important to Gardening

By ALBERT S. FULLING

Perennials are an integral part of any garden plan. Perennials are plants which live for more than one year with certain limitations. They may be started from seed or from cuttings. Early spring, before April, is another favorite perennial planting time. However, to start from seed in early August, the open garden soil is too warm for good germination of most seeds. A coldframe which can be shaded, controlled and properly ventilated is ideal. Perhaps, if you would rather do the seed work, you can readily purchase plants from the nursery, greenhouse or farm supplier.

The seeds planted in August will be ready for bloom next spring. Usually the seedlings can winter in the frame without transplanting until spring. Another time for coldframe planting of perennial seeds is late in November. The seeds will remain dormant until spring.

The seeds may be planted directly on the soil in the frame, in seed flats, or in pots sunk with the tops almost level with the soil. Generally, either seed flats or pots will give you more maneuverability.

Plan for your perennials to go into beds of their own. There are perennials which will bloom in early spring, late spring, and various phases of summer and fall. They grow to varying heights, so you should adjust your plantings to give you continual bloom through the season as graduated height in the beds.

Your seed packets or seed catalog will give you the clues. Be sure to check whether your choices need full sun, shade or part shade before planting in beds.

An old favorite early spring perennial is the primrose; Lily-of-the-valley is a mid-spring bloomer, while the Chamae xiphioides, pinks, iris, Oriental poppy, sweet William or delphinium will give you color from late spring through early summer.

For fall flowers, there are the ever-popular chrysanthemum and the rose-mallow.

These are just a few of the usually heavy perennials. Winter protection in northern climates requires a protective mulch over the perennial bed to prevent heaving from alternate freezing and thawing.

Through the years, there will be need for occasional replacement of plants for while the group is dubbed perennial, it normally is not perpetual.

U. S. railroad operating revenues for 1954 were $3,371 million dollars, the smallest since 1949.

City Square Used to Store Wheat

ALBANY, Mo. — Wheat piled up in the court house square was the answer to a transport shortage and a bumper crop here.

The Town Council gave permission for the use of the square when railroads and trucks could not move the grain fast enough. At its peak, the pile occupied three sides of the square and was 12 feet high in some places. Council members said there were 68,500 bushels in the street.

All the towns elevators were full and the wheat kept pouring in. Officials blamed the unusual size of the crop for the breakdown in normal handling facilities.

Few People Know How to Care for Piano

By EDWARD S. KITCH

AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO — Homeowners seldom know how to take care of their pianos, says the American Music Conference. It reports there are 19 million people in the United States who enjoy playing pianos but most of them don't understand what a complicated thing it is.

Here's the conference outline on housekeeping your piano:

A large part of the care must be left to experts. That piano of yours may have as many as 12,000 moving parts. Tension strings may be as much as 150 pounds. Soundboards are subject to constant moisture which may be over half a ton in a small spinet there is 15 tons of stress on the frame.

Planes to which the strings are attached. In a concert grand piano may be 40 tons. The strings begin to lose their tension as soon as the tuner turns his back. Your piano should be tuned every six months with normal family use.

Climate with a wide variation in temperature and humidity, the piano should be placed in a room where the temperature is about 65 degrees. Avoid placing the piano near a window or in a basement.

You can use dehumidifying devices to keep the humidity down — an electric heater inside the piano or a bag of moisture absorber placed near the piano. In extremely dry climates, the wooden mechanical parts are inclined to shrink or even crack.

Then a humidifying device can be used. You can hang crystals inside the piano to protect the felt on the hammers and dampers from being eaten by hungry moths.

A piano technician should clean the inside of the instrument, removing the action, and using the vacuum cleaner to pick up the dust that settles on all flat surfaces. This should be done annually.

Like any piece of furniture, a piano should be dusted, polished or waxed occasionally. The keys can be cleaned with a soft cloth moistened with water. Use a mild soap if the keys are soiled extremely. Rub the keys lightly with a back-and-forth motion, then dry them with another soft cloth. Take care that soap or soapy water doesn't get into the action of the piano.

Here Is Dog That Thinks He Is Human

WOOD RIVER, Ill. — Buster is all mixed up in going around acting like a human instead of the dog that he is. His owners, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jones say he actually appears uncomfortable lounging around the house without his robe and slippers.

Mrs. Jones attributes Buster's confusion to the fact he "never has associated with other dogs." The Jones' say that if one of them turns up his nose at one of their table Buster "makes a gagging noise and refuses to eat it."

Buster, a toy collie, eats exactly what his owners eat, including carrots, sauerkraut and beans. He sits on warm baths. He has his own bath mat, own towels, his own robe and an assortment of dog scents. He sleeps just like a human, on a mattress, between sheets and with covers.

Buster has grown tolerant of cats.

"People don't chase cats," says Jones. "So how can Buster bring himself to do it?"

HIS TANK IS BANK BUT IT IS COSTLY

KINGS MOUNTAIN, N. C. — A motorist drove into a filling station here and asked that his car's gas tank be removed. He explained that every time he bought gas, he had been dropping the change in the tank.

Lately the car has been spitting, so he thought it was time to empty the tank bank. Off came the tank and out came the coins — totaling $23.95. But his share was only $21.45. He cost $4.50 to take off the tank bank.

Josephine Hospital, Dr. G. E. Cannon, Important Part of Health of Hope, Hempstead

No hospital edition would be complete without a partial story about the Josephine Hospital, a private institution built and operated many years by the late Dr. G. E. Cannon.

The Josephine was located in the building across the street from the Police Station. He built the Josephine in 1915 and his hospital had the honor of being the first privately-owned hospital in the state of Arkansas.

The Josephine was sold in 1948 to Dr. Jim McKenzie who operated it a few years, finally closing doors and selling the building to Whitfield Masonic Lodge No. 229 of Hope. Actually the story in the Josephine is the story of Dr. Cannon who generously, character and ability was widely acclaimed. It was often said that nobody was excused of race or ability to pay, was ever turned away.

Dr. Cannon died November 17, 1952. He actually never quit practicing medicine. During the latter years he and Mrs. Cannon, who still makes her home in Hope made many fine, still, commendable. The two most outstanding were gifts to Hope and Ousehilla College the Hempstead County Library Building here and the infirmary at the College.

Miss Ona Grant, now known as Mrs. George E. Cannon, for some 21 years, home, also continues to make her home here.

Water Chief Problem in Landscaping

Make plans now for any construction jobs and landscaping. If you have water problems — too much in certain areas in certain seasons — think in terms of regarding to provide drainage, but consult experts to make sure a more expensive job of drainage — agricultural tile — is made. Even if it is more expensive it is an economy to do the required job once and for all rather than a series of unsuccessful patching jobs.

Order new material for fall planting, including evergreens and many flowering shrubs. Ball and burlapped plants are likely to be the best investment even though they are more expensive.

Its getting late to send the bulb orders in. Do order something to replace daffodils and tulips, lovely though they are. The very early blooming bulbs are well worth the time and planting effort.

Perennials which bloomed before real summer weather set in should be, if necessary, divided and transplanted in the fall so they may be established in time to produce bloom next year in their new and refurbished locations.

Hardy annuals — larkspur, astir and California poppy, slyssum and calendula — seed may be sown where they are to bloom next year.

IN THE SOUTH
Seed of hardy plants against back struggling annuals to encourage some final blooms. The annuals may respond to a light booster feeding.

Spray hedging plants against scale, white fly and lace bug. Winter rye, sown over Bermuda grass, will provide green to replace the browning lawns.

IN THE SOUTHWEST
Many perennials, including phlox, day lilies and iris, may be dug and transplanted during the next 60 days.

Choose healthy bushy plants from which to take cuttings for house plants.

Dig and burn all plants — peony, delphinium and any others — showing evidence of crown rot.

IN CALIFORNIA
Continue watering the garden as needed, but groom instead of digging dying flowers, staking and weeding.

For best results, sow perennial seeds in soil to which rich, sifted humus or compost has been liberally mixed.

In trimming out old canes of the brambles, take care to lay new canes on which next season's fruit crop will be borne.

A dog's life 20 years ago was figured at seven or eight years, but now experts say the average dog lives from 11 to 15 years.

New Stamps Tribute UN Post Service

TO HONOR the 10th anniversary of the United Nations, the U. N. Postal Administration will issue a set of three new stamps. They will be issued on Oct. 24th, U. N. Day.

The main design on each is an open book depicting the charter of the United Nations. In the 3-center stamp the phrase of the preamble to the charter, "We the Peoples of the United Nations," appears in English. The 4-center is shown in Spanish. The 6-center is in French. Further details regarding color, size and particulars on how to get first day covers will be given in this column in September.

AFGHANISTAN pays its tribute to the United Nations' 10th birthday with 2 new stamps, reports the New York Stamp Co. The 1.25 cent blue shows the U. N. symbol surrounded by the flags of the nations. The 35 p green depicts a world globe with the initials "U.N." superimposed.

TWO NEW air mail stamps have been issued by Ecuador for the 40th anniversary of the Rotary International. The 80 centavo brown depicts the Rotunda at Guayaquil. The 90 c green shows a hospital at Quito. Both stamps bear the Rotary wheeled symbol.

PRODUCTS of the Ryukyu Islands appear on two new stamps from the Far Pacific Isles. The 30 yen yellow stamps shows a design from their banana cloth. The 15 yen red pictures lacquer ware. News of these stamps comes from the Japan Philatelic Society.

ETHIOPIA has issued three new stamps commemorating the 20th anniversary of the Ethiopian Red Cross. Each stamp bears an identical design — Princess Tashai in a nurse's uniform at a sickbed. A profile portrait of Emperor Haile Selassie appears in the upper right corner of each. The 1 cent is brown and blue. The 20 is green and brown and the 50 is blue and green. Also on each adhesive are the dates 1935-1955.

A 30 FRANC blue and blue green stamp has been issued by France to honor the centenary of the voyage to Canada of the French sailing vessel "La Capricieuse." A drawing of the ship is the main design. The dates 1855-1955 appear beneath the illustration.

Residents of Hempstead Owe Debt of Gratitude to Hospital Committee

Construction of New Hospital Came Only After Many, Many Difficulties Were Overcome

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following tells the story of how the new hospital was built. Information came from the Building Committee with C. V. Nunn, Jr., attorney for the group, acting as spokesman.)

Developments which brought about eventual completion of the new Hempstead County Hospital covered a long period during which many obstacles were overcome through a determined community effort on behalf of all persons interested in this project. There were many discouraging moments and many crises were met and passed and the committee wishes to thank all those persons who so ably assisted the committee in meeting this challenge. The idea for a County Hospital was born in the minds of the doctors of our County who in turn asked for and received help from the Hope Chamber of Commerce.

Meet after meet was called and finally the idea progressed far enough along for the voters of Hempstead to authorize a sale of $300,000 in bonds and approve three mill tax with which to reimburse the bondholders.

The late C. Cook, then County Judge, named a hospital committee composed of Lloyd Spencer, Dr. J. I. Liebberg, Berly Henry and Dr. Jim McKenzie and Roy Anderson with Albert Graves as attorney for the group.

Circumstances prevented this group from getting much done. Meanwhile U. G. Garrett was elected County Judge and immediately called a meeting of the committee. All members of the group affirmed by former Judge Cook resigned and a new committee was named by Judge Garrett with the following members: Clifford Franks, chairman; Roy Anderson, J. I. Liebberg, Berly Henry and J. H. Gunter with C. V. Nunn, Jr., as attorney for the group. Lee Ray was named building commissioner and Weaver and Stover were hired as architects.

Immediately the group began the selection of a building site and finally after viewing all available land the money without local financial institutions participating. As a last resort, in order to save the project from inevitable failure, the building committee called a meeting of a number of private citizens who had expressed more than the normal interest in the project, and asked them for assistance with reference to raising the necessary $50,000.

Thus citizens individually went to their respective banks and pledged their own individual property as security for loan, and they then used the total amount of $50,000 so secured to re-loan to the contractors to enable the job to continue.

So this month after many months of work and hardship the Hempstead County Hospital is in operation. It is a County Hospital, however, the committee wishes to emphasize that the people have not voted a tax for maintenance and operation of this hospital, hence it must of necessity be self-sufficient, as the tax voted was for construction only. The hospital Building Committee served without pay or expenses as does the Board.

The new hospital will be governed by a board of seven members the terms of which members mature in 1956 but are callable and surplus money can be used to pay them off ahead of schedule. For two years money has been collected under the three mill tax approved by the voters and such money amounted to $50,000 at the time the bonds were sold. The sale of the bonds were so arranged that the County had the right to immediately redeem $50,000 in bonds at par, which it did. So actually only $250,000 indebtedness was incurred.

This was followed by letting the general contract on the low bid to Tom Lavender Construction Company of Texarkana, with three other major contractors being awarded to Turner-McCoy Company (heating and air conditioning), Stewart Plumbing Company (plumbing) and Blaylock Associates, (consulting engineers). Construction began in 1954 and progressed phenomenally smooth with only four working days being lost until March 1955 when a major crisis occurred. Contractors were being paid on a percentage basis.

and in March the hospital was 85 per cent complete. However in view of the fact that federal funds were broken down into three payments, $50,000 in 1953, another $50,000 in 1954 and $200,000 in July 1955, the per cent of work completed had gotten ahead of its coming funds. The County had exhausted its $50,000 and also $100,000 received from the federal government and could not receive the $200,000 payment before July 1, 1955. Hence the County was behind in monthly payment to the contractor.

The contractors were very cooperative and patient and kept the job going as long as possible, but it finally reached the point where $50,000 had to be raised or the job would have to close down until the final federal payment was received.

This situation jeopardized the entire project for this reason: under the contracts the contractors were entitled to demand full payment without completing the job at a later date and the County would have to contract with another firm to complete the job, thereby paying two for the last 15 per cent of the project, for which there was not enough funds available even after July 1, 1955. Hence it could be said that unless funds could be immediately made available it was probable that the project would never be completed.

The possibility of this situation arising was anticipated by the board at the time the bonds were sold, as similar situations had arisen previously in the construction of projects dependent upon federal aid.

Anticipating this the committee took this matter up with its financial sub-committee and the board, and it was decided that funds could be borrowed locally for the few months needed from March to July. However, when the need became apparent, local financial institutions couldn't see their way clear to make the loan. Financial institutions in Texarkana and Little Rock were contacted but refused to lend the money without local financial institutions participating.

Conductor of Orchestra Is Sparetime Chef

By RENE J. CARPON

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — A sparetime chef, a round, pink-faced, sparehaired man of 62 is Kansas City's leading amateur orchestra conductor and sparetime chef.

And he's still agile on ladders on his job as fire director. He has held the post 15 years, the supreme fulfillment for a lifelong fireman.

His musical director for the preceding Wornall's appointment

University Club's Nitwit Shows. Sometimes he composes the score for these annual affairs and leads the orchestra.

Like Fire Work

Wornall discusses his hobbies, including the preparation of rare and wondrous dishes, in a diffident manner. But if the conversation turns to his attitude towards fire, he has never been able to stay away from a "good fire," he says. He gets to see plenty of them every two-alarmers in the high value district and every three-alarmers anywhere in town. That means 40 or 50 a year. On the civilian side, he's an insurance man who has long specialized in fire protection, prevention, and claims.

From 1938 to 1940, the four years preceding Wornall's appointment

All Fields of Law Are Open to Women

GREENVILLE, S. C. — (AP) — Opportunities are opening for women in all fields of law, says Miss Jim Perry of Greenville, the first woman president of a South Carolina bar organization.

Miss Perry, who recently was elected president of the Greenville Bar Association, says that there is a definite need for feminine lawyers to represent women and children. Such clients will talk more freely and frankly with a woman, she says.

Citing her pleasant associations with fellow attorneys, Miss Perry says that men are now accepting women in the courts more readily than they did several years ago.

Her advice to any would-be woman lawyer is to take a business course along with her legal studies and to get experience in a lawyer's office as a secretary. She says this is a practical opening wedge to the profession.

Miss Perry also has counsel for homemakers. She urges them to accept the responsibility of participating in all phases of public affairs and government.

Lawmaking is like housekeeping on a larger scale, she says. As women build their homes on firm foundations, they should see that their city, state, and national governments come up to the level of their homes. The woman's viewpoint is definitely needed in politics.

The home should come first, she says, but modern conveniences have left mothers free time which can be spent in civic activities. The way in which a community is run affects every home to the core.

The attractive Miss Perry has made history in Southern law circles before. She was the first woman to be admitted to the South Carolina Bar Assn. She received her law degree in 1918 from the University of California, some 3000 miles from her native home of Greenville.

Miss Perry was named Jim because her father wanted a son, and refused to change the name he had chosen when the baby turned out to be a girl.

She is a national charter member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, having attended its first convention in St. Louis.

Men Like to Travel on Vacation

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newfeatures Beaty Editor

If you man is the type who likes to take a motor trip on vacation, grin and bear it. Some men just like to hit the road. Woman usually find it a bore, unless they are headed for a summer paradise.

Make your trip more comfortable than usual by trying to correct some of the drawbacks of the ride.

Sports car addicts should give some thought to headgear. A snug cap or no too voluminous scarf may be tied securely to help even a short hairstyle maintain a neat look. Hat or scarf is sometimes necessary even in a hardtop car when breezes blow through open windows. Sunglasses are imperative to your comfort, and watching a hot glaring road in the blazing sun can give you a headache.

Separate blouse and skirt outfits are more comfortable, particularly for a long drive than one-piece dresses which tend to wrinkle quickly. Crease-resistant fabrics in dark colors can look just as fresh when you stop at that drive-in as when you left home.

Tight skirts get creased after a lengthy period of sitting and are likely to bind as you drive. A skirt with easy fullness is less bothersome — but don't choose one that's too full or you may have to sit on the fullness to keep it from billowing or the hemline is likely to sweep the floor of the car where the dust gathers.

Choose your girdle with care for the trip. You'll need a giraffe or pantie giraffe that will not pinch thighs or confine your waist. It should be sufficiently snug, however, to give some support so you won't tire quickly. Your bra, too, should give plenty of support so that you won't slouch into poor posture. The band of the bra should supplement the support of its cups and fit smoothly, not tightly, around the back. A bra with straps is better for driving than a strapless style, just as you might refer to a pantie giraffe because it permits you to move more freely than a regular girdle.

Stretch stockings are ideal for a trip when you are getting in and out of a car often. Long stockings can bunch uncomfortably and too short ones, aggravating your inner thighs.

If you are the main driver on the junket, two pairs of shoes will serve you well. Change off often, occasionally, as feet are likely to perspire and become sore. If you are spelling the driver it is a good idea to take along a pair of slippers to wear when you are not at the wheel. Choose high or low heels but be sure to wear

Civil Defense Is a Going Concern

LINCOLN, Neb. — They still keep their powder dry out here on the American Great Plains. But preparedness today often involves more dry milk than gunpowder.

Civil defense is a going concern both as a public and private program. The attitudes are summed up by Mrs. Carl Deitemeyer, this year's Mrs. America.

In the public program she has staff duties at the Nebraska Civil Defense Control Center. In her own home she has an emergency food supply in the basement. She is toward simplifying and streamlining everything from house cleaning to meal serving.

With the exit of domestic help from the average U. S. home, a new enthusiasm for casual living has swept the country. Instead of a formal banquet with five courses and a mountain of china some of her emergency rationing are commercially canned.

The battery-operated radio which is on a shelf in a corner provides a modern touch to her preparations.

Family Trips Can Be Ghastly Nightmares

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

AP Newfeatures

Now that the children are old enough you think it's time to take that long dream of trip.

A vagabonding trip by car with the whole family can be a heap of fun — it can be a ghastly nightmare, too, if you're not careful. The children are old enough. Ten years old would be better for many children. Don't plan your trip for fun with children much younger than this. Plan your trip — but don't plan every last detail. One of the joys of a long car trip is being able to do the unexpected when an unusual opportunity develops.

The Wentworths went west with their three youngsters (ages 10, 12, and 16). One evening after supper they took a walk down into a small town in the Dakota wheat lands. The boys wanted to see a wheat elevator. There the 16-year-old daughter struck up a conversation with a young farmer. Pretty soon the whole family was in on the new friendship. The upshot was an invitation to come out to the farm next day. Would the Wentworths' plans were flexible enough to be able to accept this invitation. The day was a great success and one of the highlights of the trip.

Don't be too ambitious in the amount of territory you are planning to cover. There will be other summers coming — and more trips if this one is a success. Two hundred fifty miles or at most three hundred is as much as you should ever plan for one day. And there should be plenty of days in between the long pulls when you hardly make any miles at all.

The big trucking companies never allow their men more than 250 to 300 miles a day. This is one of the reasons they have such excellent safety records. Fatigue makes unsafe drivers. Fatigue also makes tight nerves, edgy tempers, and family squabbles. The trip is for fun. You'll have much more fun if you take it easy.

If you have some sleeping bags you'll probably enjoy some nights under the stars. But plan an occasional night in a motel where hot baths can be had by all.

There will be long hours in the car. Here's where the real family spirit gets its workout. So seldom in our hectic lives do families have hours to spend together. You'll talk and play games. Get some information about the places you are going to see. The Wentworths took in Boulder Dam on their trip. Dad was just bursting with knowledge about dams and water and the effect on people of having power and water.

After they got home one of Dad Wentworth's favorite stories was how it took the kids three hours and a terrific amount of arithmetic to figure out the number of years it would take for the silt in the Colorado River to fill up the lake behind the dam, and make a new dam necessary!

By all means take a trip and show your youngsters some of these rather wonderful United States of ours. Take it easy and come home not only with a knowledge of the country but with renewed feeling of family solidarity. Good warm family vacations can do wonders to give children that basic security we are always talking about.

This should be known as the era of women's great emancipation. Science, industry and etiquette combine these days to free the modern housewife from all the drudgery and cumbersome living of her mother's day. The trend is toward simplifying and streamlining everything from house cleaning to meal serving.

With the exit of domestic help from the average U. S. home, a new enthusiasm for casual living has swept the country. Instead of a formal banquet with five courses and a mountain of china some of her emergency rationing are commercially canned.

Airboats Are Useful in Everglades

By JIM MARTENHOFF

COFFERTOWN, Fla. — (AP) — If you want to travel in the Everglades, it's best to slide.

South Florida's vast wilderness could hold Rhode Island three times, with plenty of room left over for New York City.

It's very wet — for most of the year. It's not a lake, but much of it, except for the comparatively rare high spots, is covered by several inches of water. There are other ways of getting about but the preferred way is to slide in an airboat.

An airboat, lightly built in the general shape of a saw, has an aircraft engine and propeller mounted on the stern. With a rudder and whorl of water, you skid like crazy with the short grass hissing under the hull.

Sixty miles an hour is possible over the damp grass in water barely deep enough to get your hand wet. Usually you travel a lot slower. If you hit a submerged log or boulder at the higher speed you wind up with your head everlastingly out on a new course. Tail grass in patches whips by you at breakneck speed. You close your eyes as you head straight for a deep, dry patch of grass and weeds, anticipating a shuddering crash.

But the boat merely slows down.

Surprise

IRON RIVER, Mich. — (AP) — The guests arrived for a surprise shower for Mrs. Sylvester Hall, a mother-to-be.

But the surprise was on them. Mrs. Hall was in a hospital giving birth to a daughter. The shower went on as scheduled.

They were happy to have had a part in this construction and completion by furnishing and installing 21,500 square feet of Armstrong Custom Corlon tile used on the floors. Also, Dixie Chrome chairs and tables in the reception rooms, and we are happy to have donated the furnishings for one room.

Conductor of Orchestra Is Sparetime Chef

By RENE J. CARPON

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — A sparetime chef, a round, pink-faced, sparehaired man of 62 is Kansas City's leading amateur orchestra conductor and sparetime chef.

And he's still agile on ladders on his job as fire director. He has held the post 15 years, the supreme fulfillment for a lifelong fireman.

His musical director for the preceding Wornall's appointment

University Club's Nitwit Shows. Sometimes he composes the score for these annual affairs and leads the orchestra.

Like Fire Work

Wornall discusses his hobbies, including the preparation of rare and wondrous dishes, in a diffident manner. But if the conversation turns to his attitude, changes.

"I have never been able to stay away from a good fire," he says. He gets to see plenty of fires every two-alarm in the high value district and every three-alarm anywhere in town. That means 40 or 50 a year. On the civilian side, he's an insurance man who has long specialized in fire protection, prevention, and claims.

From 1938 to 1940, the four years preceding Wornall's appointment as fire director, the city's fire losses equaled or exceeded the national average. In the past 10 years, they have been about half the national average or less.

The department was something of a shambles when he took over, he says.

Trouble Found

"One of the first fires I attended as director, a battalion chief ordered a fireman to do something, and the fellow turned around, cool as you please, and yelled, 'do it yourself, you son-of-a-bitch!'"

Political shenanigans, Wornall says, were a primary evil. The machine of the late Tom Pendergast considered the fire department a convenient preserve.

Wornall changed many things, but heavy emphasis was placed on training. The drill tower, which had been closed for several years, was reopened. To this day, companies that don't perform up to snuff at a fire find themselves hard at work in the tower the next week.

One of Wornall's firemen had his own explanation:

"We'll find a fire blazing right along," he said. "Somebody puts in a call for more equipment. Then the Old Man comes rolling up, belows a couple of times, and the fire goes out."

All Fields of Law Are Open to Women

GREENVILLE, S. C. — (AP) — Opportunities are opening for women in all fields of law, says Miss Jim Perry of Greenville, the first woman president of a South Carolina bar organization.

Miss Perry, who recently was elected president of the Greenville Bar Association, says that there is a definite need for feminine lawyers to represent women and children. Such clients will talk more freely and frankly with a woman, she says.

Citing her pleasant associations with fellow attorneys, Miss Perry says that men are now accepting women in the courts more readily than they did several years ago.

Her advice to any would-be woman lawyer is to take a business course along with her legal studies and to get experience in a lawyer's office as a secretary.

She says this is a practical opening wedge to the profession. Miss Perry also has counsel for homemakers. She urges them to accept the responsibility of participating in all phases of public affairs and government.

Lawmaking is like housekeeping on a larger scale, she says. As women build their homes on firm foundations, they should see that their city, state, and national governments come up to the level of their homes. The woman's viewpoint is definitely needed in politics.

The home should come first, she says, but modern conveniences have left mothers free time which can be spent in civic activities. The way in which a community is run affects every home to the core.

The attractive Miss Perry has made history in Southern law circles before. She was the first woman to be admitted to the South Carolina Bar Assn. She received her law degree in 1918 from the University of California, some 3000 miles from her native home of Greenville.

Miss Perry was named Jim because her father wanted a son, and refused to change the name he had chosen when the baby turned out to be a girl.

She is a national charter member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, having attended its first convention in St. Louis.

Men Like to Travel on Vacation

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newfeatures Beaty Editor

If your man is the type who likes to take a motor trip on vacation, grin and bear it. Some men just like to hit the road. Woman usually find it a bore, unless they are headed for a summer paradise.

Make your trip more comfortable than usual by trying to correct some of the drawbacks of the ride.

Sports car addicts should give some thought to headgear. A snug cap or no too voluminous scarf may be tied securely to help even a short hairstyle maintain a neat look. Hat or scarf is sometimes necessary even in a hardtop car when breezes blow through open windows. Sunglasses are imperative to your comfort, and watching a hot glaring road in the blazing sun can give you a headache.

Separate blouse and skirt outfits are more comfortable, particularly for a long drive than one-piece dresses which tend to wrinkle quickly. Crease-resistant fabrics in dark colors can look just as fresh when you stop at that drive-in as when you left home.

Tight skirts get creased after a lengthy period of sitting and are likely to bind as you drive. A skirt with easy fullness is less bothersome — but don't choose one that's too full or you may have to sit on the fullness to keep it from billowing or the hemline is likely to sweep the floor of the car where the dust gathers.

Choose your girdle with care for the trip. You'll need a giraffe or pantie giraffe that will not pinch thighs or confine your waist. It should be sufficiently snug, however, to give some support so you won't tire quickly. Your bra, too, should give plenty of support so that you won't slouch into poor posture. The band of the bra should supplement the support of its cups and fit smoothly, not tightly, around the back. A bra with straps is better for driving than a strapless style, just as you might refer to a pantie giraffe because it permits you to move more freely than a regular girdle.

Stretch stockings are ideal for a trip when you are getting in and out of a car often. Long stockings can bunch uncomfortably and too short ones, aggravating your inner thighs.

If you are the main driver on the junket, two pairs of shoes will serve you well. Change off often, occasionally, as feet are likely to perspire and become sore. If you are spelling the driver it is a good idea to take along a pair of slippers to wear when you are not at the wheel. Choose high or low heels but be sure to wear closed toe and heel so dirt and gravel will not sift in.

A sturdy handbag can hold a multitude of beauty essentials on a motor trip. Such things as cleansing cream, lipstick, hairbrush, hand lotion and sun tan preparations should be packed in a plastic bag. An extra toothbrush and paste kept in this bag will serve you well, too.

There usually are at least five locks on every auto.

The trend is toward simplifying and streamlining everything from house cleaning to meal serving.

With the exit of domestic help from the average U. S. home, a new enthusiasm for casual living has swept the country. Instead of a formal banquet with five courses and a mountain of china, today's dinner party is more likely to be served buffet style.

The trend is seen even in table settings. Hotel men were among the first to realize that diners often were confused and annoyed by an array of various sizes of forks and other silver. So instead of setting out a complicated arrangement of fish fork, salad fork, dinner fork and dessert fork, many modern hotel managers have simplified the dinner service to merely two regular dinner forks of the same size, plus knife and two spoons.

The practice is spreading to private homes, and it now is considered correct to use the simplified table setting, eliminating several of the specialized fork and spoon sets that used to be a must in grandmother's day.

The new look in table settings means less work for Mom, a smaller investment in silver and relief to the guest who isn't sure what fork to use.

So if your chest of silver doesn't ever shine, don't worry. They're going out of style.

Hat or scarf is sometimes necessary even in a hardtop car when breezes blow through open windows. Sunglasses are imperative to your comfort, and watching a hot glaring road in the blazing sun can give you a headache.

Separate blouse and skirt outfits are more comfortable, particularly for a long drive than one-piece dresses which tend to wrinkle quickly. Crease-resistant fabrics in dark colors can look just as fresh when you stop at that drive-in as when you left home.

Tight skirts get creased after a lengthy period of sitting and are likely to bind as you drive. A skirt with easy fullness is less bothersome — but don't choose one that's too full or you may have to sit on the fullness to keep it from billowing or the hemline is likely to sweep the floor of the car where the dust gathers.

Choose your girdle with care for the trip. You'll need a giraffe or pantie giraffe that will not pinch thighs or confine your waist. It should be sufficiently snug, however, to give some support so you won't tire quickly. Your bra, too, should give plenty of support so that you won't slouch into poor posture. The band of the bra should supplement the support of its cups and fit smoothly, not tightly, around the back. A bra with straps is better for driving than a strapless style, just as you might refer to a pantie giraffe because it permits you to move more freely than a regular girdle.

Stretch stockings are ideal for a trip when you are getting in and out of a car often. Long stockings can bunch uncomfortably and too short ones, aggravating your inner thighs.

If you are the main driver on the junket, two pairs of shoes will serve you well. Change off often, occasionally, as feet are likely to perspire and become sore. If you are spelling the driver it is a good idea to take along a pair of slippers to wear when you are not at the wheel. Choose high or low heels but be sure to wear closed toe and heel so dirt and gravel will not sift in.

A sturdy handbag can hold a multitude of beauty essentials on a motor trip. Such things as clean, moist tissue, a hand lotion and sun tan preparations should be packed in a clean, sturdy bag. An extra toothbrush and paste kept in this bag will serve you well, too.

There usually are at least five locks on every auto.

Civil Defense Is a Going Concern

LINCOLN, Neb. — They still keep their powder dry out here on the American Great Plains. But preparedness today often involves more dry milk than gunpowder.

Civil defense is a going concern both as a public and private program. The attitudes are summed up by Mrs. Carl Deitemeyer, this year's Mrs. America.

In the public program she has staff duties at the Nebraska Civil Defense Control Center. In her own home she has an emergency food supply in the basement. She explains she hopes that disaster never strikes, but she wants to be ready.

Her emergency cupboard is pattemed on those of pioneer housekeepers. Like them, she preserves some of her own food. But some of her emergency rationers are commercially canned.

The battery-operated radio which is on a shelf in a corner provides a modern touch to her preparations.

Housewives Have Much Easier Time

By DOROTHY YROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

This should be known as the era of women's great emancipation. Science, industry and etiquette combine these days to free the modern housewife from all the drudgery and cumbersome living of her mother's day. The trend is toward simplifying and streamlining everything from house cleaning to meal serving.

With the exit of domestic help from the average U. S. home, a new enthusiasm for casual living has swept the country. Instead of a formal banquet with five courses and a mountain of china, today's dinner party is more likely to be served buffet style.

The trend is seen even in table settings. Hotel men were among the first to realize that diners often were confused and annoyed by an array of various sizes of forks and other silver. So instead of setting out a complicated arrangement of fish fork, salad fork, dinner fork and dessert fork, many modern hotel managers have simplified the dinner service to merely two regular dinner forks of the same size, plus knife and two spoons.

The practice is spreading to private homes, and it now is considered correct to use the simplified table setting, eliminating several of the specialized fork and spoon sets that used to be a must in grandmother's day.

The new look in table settings means less work for Mom, a smaller investment in silver and relief to the guest who isn't sure what fork to use.

So if your chest of silver doesn't ever shine again, don't worry. They're going out of style.

Family Trips Can Be Ghastly Nightmares

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

AP Newfeatures

Now that the children are old enough you think it's time to take that long dream of trip.

A vagabonding trip by car with the whole family can be a heap of fun — it can be a ghastly nightmare, too, if you're not careful.

But the surprise was on them. Mrs. Hall was in a hospital giving birth to a daughter. The shower went on as scheduled.

The Wentworths went west with their three youngsters (ages 10, 12, and 16). One evening after supper they took a walk down into a small town in the Dakota wheat lands. The boys wanted to see a wheat elevator. There the 16-year-old daughter struck up a conversation with a young farmer. Pretty soon the whole family was in on the new friendship. The upshot was an invitation to come out to the farm next day. Would the Wentworths' plans were flexible enough to be able to accept this invitation. The day was a great success and one of the highlights of the trip.

Don't be too ambitious in the amount of territory you are planning to cover. There will be other summers coming — and more trips if this one is a success.

Two hundred fifty miles or at most three hundred is as much as you should ever plan for one day. And there should be plenty of days in between the long pulls when you hardly make any miles at all.

The big trucking companies never allow their men more than 250 to 300 miles a day. This is one of the reasons they have such excellent safety records.

Fatigue makes unsafe drivers. Fatigue also makes tight nerves, edgy tempers, and family squabbles. The trip is for fun. You'll have much more fun if you take it easy.

If you have some sleeping bags you'll probably enjoy some nights under the stars. But plan an occasional night in a motel where hot baths can be had by all.

There will be long hours in the car. Here's where the real family spirit gets its workout. So seldom in our hectic lives do families have hours to spend together. You'll talk and play games. Get some information about the places you are going to see. The Wentworths took in Boulder Dam on their trip. Dad was just bursting with knowledge about dams and water and the effect on people of having power and water.

After they got home one of Dad Wentworth's favorite stories was how it took the kids three hours and a terrific amount of arithmetic to figure out the number of years it would take for the spit in the Colorado River to fill up the hole behind the dam, and make a new dam necessary!

By all means take a trip and show your youngsters some of these rather wonderful United States of ours. Take it easy and come home not only with a knowledge of the country but with renewed feeling of family solidarity. Good warm family vacations can do wonders to give children that basic security we are always talking about.

New Jersey has 44,000 more people moving into it than move out in an average year.

Airboats Are Useful in Everglades

By JIM MARTENHOFF

COFFERTOWN, Fla. — (AP) — If you want to travel in the Everglades, it's best to slide.

South Florida's vast wilderness could hold Rhode Island three times, with plenty of room left over for New York City.

It's very wet — for most of the year. It's not a lake, but much of it, except for the comparatively rare high spots, is covered by several inches of water. There are other ways of getting about but the preferred way is to slide in an airboat.

An airboat, lightly built in the general shape of a saw, has an aircraft engine and propeller mounted on the stern. With a rudder and whorl of water, you skid like crazy with the short grass hissing under the hull.

Sixty miles an hour is possible over the damp grass in water barely deep enough to get your hand wet. Usually you travel a lot slower. If you hit a submerged log or boulder at the higher speed you wind up with your head engine resting in what is left of your lap. Airboats usually proceed with some caution.

Airboats are very popular with frog hunters (you've heard of frog legs), bass fishermen, hunters, Everglades explorers, border patrolmen and wildlife officers, and the silent Seminole Indian.

The Indians build crazy patchwork airboats out of plywood and mauling planking, and equip them with rusty monstrosities for motors, not fancy, perhaps but with rusty monstrosities for power dugout canoe.

It is not particularly unusual to spot an Indian out-pulling along in an antiquated and sputtering airboat with a load of speared garfish.

Riding an airboat is a special thrill. Sitting low in the boat, all you see before you is grass and more grass. The pilot will swing his air rudder and the boat will make a graceful, skidding turn, traveling almost sideways for several hundred feet, before straightening out on a new course.

Tail grass in patches whips by you at breakneck speed. You close your eyes as you head straight for a deep, dry patch of grass and weeds, anticipating a shuddering crash.

But the boat merely slows down.

SURPRISE

IRON RIVER, Mich. — (AP) — The guests arrived for a surprise shower for Mrs. Sylvester Hall, a mother-to-be.

But the surprise was on them. Mrs. Hall was in a hospital giving birth to a daughter. The shower went on as scheduled.

HEMPSTEAD COUNTY ON YOUR NEW MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Our bank is a public service institution as well as a vital beneficial-commercial enterprise in the community. In determining policy, the two factors always considered are: Will it benefit and protect our depositors; and is it of value to Hope and Hempstead County in the constant effort to achieve further progress? Our belief is in an even greater, more prosperous community. Our policy matches that of the area we serve, "Save With Security."

We are progressing, too. We feel justly proud to announce our expansion program which will provide a better banking service to accomodate our patrons.

EL PASO, Ill. An experimenter may determine if underground irrigation will boost corn yields beyond the 100-bushel per acre mark.

Lester Pfister, hybrid corn breeder, says he is trying to find the best method of applying fertilizer to a growing crop.

Twenty-two line tiles at a depth of 36 inches, spaced 10 feet apart, supply water and liquid fertilizer to a one-acre plot of corn.

Half of the acre will receive irrigation water and the other half will receive both water and liquid fertilizer through the tile.

Although there may be a heavy rain during the season, Pfister believes it's almost certain a third stand of tile will be able to utilize more water than nature provides.

A healthy corn crop in July will consume a third of an inch of rainfall or stored moisture daily.

Frank W. Bill, a Bloomington, Ill., farm editor, said the test consists of three plots. Tile lines occupy only one of them.

Another plot will be ditched for tile every 10 feet but no tile will be installed. Half of the acre will receive fertilizer and water and the other only water. It will show whether stirring the soil to the 36-inch depth every 10 feet will have any effect.

A third plot will use sprinkler irrigation on a half acre and a sprinkler irrigation with liquid fertilizer on the other half.

Pfister is convinced that irrigation

'High Sierra' Proves to Be Good Reading
BY OSCAR LEWIS
Duell, Sloan Pearce-Little, Brown

For a little over 400 miles up and down the eastern edge of California the Sierra Nevada goes up and down another way — up as high, for instance, as Mt. Whitney's 14,494-foot peak, highest in the continental United States. The area includes the Yosemite, the Sequoia National Parks, the gold rush towns of 1848-49, John Muir wrote about it, and so did Bret Harte and Mark Twain — and Oscar Lewis.

Administration Offices and Personnel of the Hospital
